BOY WASTING TO DEATH AFTER WITCH'S CURSE

PERTH, Australia (Reuters) — Doctors here said today they are fighting a losing battle against tribal witchcraft to save a 15-year-old aboriginal boy who is "wasting to death" in the Perth hospital.

Doctors said the boy, Charlie Yundar, angered his witch doctor by prying into the secrets of the native "man-making" ritual. The witch doctor jabbed the boy in the mouth with sticks and told him he would die.

The boy was flown here from Derby, 1,200 miles away on the northwest coast, and the stick wounds were cured, but doctors could not convince him that he would live.

Now they say his death is only a matter of time.

April Visit For De Gaulle

PARIS (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle will visit Canada from April 19 to 22 and then will go to the United States "until the end of the same month," it was announced today.

PRESIDENT DE GAULLE ... sets date

A brief communique published by the Elysee Palace, the president's official office, said:

"Gen de Gaulle has been invited to pay an official visit to the United States and Canada at the end of next April."

"The president of the republic has accepted with pleasure these two invitations."

HAD ACCEPTED BEFORE

The French president had long accepted both invitations in principle, but the specific dates had not been set. These depended on the date for an East-West summit conference, now set for May 16 in Paris.

De Gaulle's visit to Canada and the U.S. will follow his official visit early in April to Great Britain.

Since his return to power in 1958, de Gaulle has crisscrossed France's vast African interests with repeated visits but has kept his other diplomatic visits to Italy and West Germany.

TO RESTORE PRESTIGE

It was part of his campaign to restore France's prestige that other chiefs of state come first to France. This has been accomplished through President Eisenhower's official visit to France and the state of Paris meetings which have brought together Western leaders many times.

De Gaulle is now having a vacation in southern France. The need for a vacation was heightened by the loss of his younger brother, Pierre, who died at Christmas time.

In Ottawa, it was learned that President de Gaulle will visit Montreal, Toronto and Quebec City in addition to the national capital.

Governor-General and Mrs. Vanier have invited President and Mrs. de Gaulle to be their guests at Government House April 19 and 20.

The sequence of General de Gaulle's visits to the various centres has not been worked out. However, he was expected to land at Montreal April 19 and probably then proceed to Ottawa, remaining in the capital until the morning of the 21st.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said some time ago that he hoped de Gaulle would address Parliament during his visit here. However, it appeared unlikely today that he would do so as Parliament will be in Easter recess at the time.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — "There are too many Jews in this country — we're going to fix them," an anonymous caller told a local radio station Tuesday night.

The telephone call, received by radio station CKNW, was the third sign of anti-Semitism on the west coast. It followed a threatening call to Abe Arnold, editor of the Jewish Western Bulletin, and a similar call to the Vancouver Sun.

CKNW recorded part of the conversation with the caller, who identified himself as a member of British Union of Fascists, and broadcast it today. Mr. Arnold said it was undoubtedly the same man who called him Tuesday.

The man, who had a Lancashire accent, told CKNW: "Hitler killed only 6,000,000. He didn't make a good enough job of it. He should have killed 8,000,000."

"But anyway, we're going to work on them. There's enough of us in this country now and we've got organized again like we did before the war."

Mr. Arnold said he is certain some international organization must be behind the outbreak of anti-Semitism.

Flood of Queries Sparked By Gov't Assessment Order

Oak Bay assessor's office today reported a flood of inquiries by residents who received increased assessment notices as a result of a provincially-ordered change in depreciation schedules on homes.

He said the average increase is about 4½ per cent on standard homes but as high as 12 per cent on luxury homes.

The same story was repeated in Esquimalt where a general increase averaging 30 per cent was applied on land only.

Victoria and Saanich assessment departments reported no general increase on assessments were made in those municipalities this year.

GOVT BLAMED

One-rate Oak Bay residents blamed the assessment increase on the provincial government.

"This may appear to be a municipal matter but in actual fact it is not," he explained.

No Tax Increases 'Nonsense'—Strachan

CCF Opposition Leader Robert Strachan today blasted the claims of Premier Bennett on Tuesday that there will be no tax increases this year. (See page 3.)

"When the homeowners of B.C. receive their tax notices this year, many thousands will find the policies of this government have increased their assessments considerably and this will mean an increase in taxes."

"In repeating this nonsense, the premier hopes that the people of B.C. will not realize that in the past seven years he has overtaxed them to the tune of $60,000,000—and they are now supposed to be happy this is merely to be continued and not increased."

BLANKET BOOST

"It is ludicrous for Premier Bennett to claim that there will be no increase in taxes this year. In fact, there is a blanket increase." (See page 3.)

In Vancouver, it is reported, assessments approach 16 per cent and the city is so upset it intends to make protests.

In Greater Victoria and throughout B.C., residents have until Jan. 17 to appeal assessment notices.

The Oak Bay assessment official confirmed that this year's increase was caused by a provincial assessment commission order to switch the method of depreciating houses.

1½% ANNUALLY

Previously, the municipality used a "straight-line" method which took off 1½ per cent each year automatically for depreciation until the maximum of 35 per cent was reached.

Under the new system, three sets of sliding scales will be used along with actual observation.

"Now it will take 28 years for a standard house to reach full depreciation where it used to be 23 years. This is a more realistic system. We were depreciating homes too rapidly before," the official said.

NOT IN CITY

The change was ordered by the provincial assessment commission last year in the three outlying municipalities, but not in the city where a sliding scale system always had been used, when the B.C. assessment regulations were altered.

"We are getting a lot of inquiries but not many actual

'Flip of Fate' Fatal to 34 In Air Crash

Planes Switched For Holidayers

(Times News Services)

BOLIVIA, N.C. — Thirty-four persons died early today when a National Airlines plane carrying vacationers from New York to Florida crashed with explosive violence near the North Carolina coast.

One of the first persons on the scene said he found "bodies scattered all over the field."

Some of the victims wore life jackets, indicating they may have had last second warning of a possible ocean crash.

At least 25 bodies had been found by noon.

The 29 passengers died by a flip of fate's coin. They were among 105 booked on a jet airliner. But crewmen found a crack in the jet's windshield and it was ordered out of service.

The 105 passengers were divided between two smaller, propeller-driven, planes on a first-come, first-served basis at two different airport gates. One plane flew to the Florida sunshine without incident. The other carried its charges to instant death.

The dead included 29 passengers, mostly from the New York metropolitan area, and five crew members.

The wreckage, strewn over 12 acres of the jungle-like Green Swamp area, was broken into three main pieces. Several residents reported hearing an explosion.

The plane crashed on the small farm of Richard Randolph. His wife, Letzie, was awakened by the noise and she awakened her husband.

Poland's Air Chief Flees in Jet

LONDON (AP) — Reports reaching Polish emigre circles today said Gen. Frey-Bielecki, chief of the Polish Air Force, has fled from Poland to Yugoslavia in a MiG jet.

If true, the defection would be one of the most important from the Soviet bloc since the war.

Frey-Bielecki took command of the Polish Air Force after Wladyslaw Gomulka took over the Polish Communist leadership in October, 1956. Previously he had been deputy to a Soviet commander, Gen. Turkel.

Qualified diplomats here said they had no first-hand confirmation of the reports.

But they noted that both Poland and Yugoslavia have been unusually reticent about the recent expulsion from Poland of the Yugoslav military attaché, Col. Nikola Pejnovic, and his assistant, Maj. Sztetozar Pazin. These expulsions became known from diplomatic sources in Warsaw Dec. 30.

Persistent rumors circulated in Yugoslavia Tuesday that a severe strain has developed in friendly relations between Yugoslavia and Poland.

'There Was Big Boom Like Dynamite'

"We heard an engine going chug-a-chug," he said, "like it was cutting in and out. Then it sounded like tin doors and windows ripping off. Then there was a big boom like dynamite." Randolph arose and looked out the window. He could see nothing but a small flame which soon went out. He returned to bed.

Early this morning their small son McArthur, went to the field to see what happened and found the plane.

The flight plan called for the plane to hug the coast on the leg from New York to Wilmington, then to swing out to sea for the overwater leg to Palm Beach, Fla. Weather conditions were to dictate when

WICKS MAKES GRAVE CHARGE

Labor Politics Linked to Deaths

Labour Minister Lyle Wicks today linked political action in the IWA with a serious increase in fatalities in the B.C. lumber industry last year.

He said due to politics in the woodworkers' trade union, the annual IWA safety conference last year had a very poor turnout, and though he had been invited to attend in past years, not this time.

He gained the opinion, he said, that persons who in the past have spurred the safety program, have now been removed from office.

JOBS AFFECTED

"Politics has got into office appointments and elections. I have the opinion that anyone expressing any independence of mind — they automatically get removed from office."

Asked what he meant by "independence of mind" the minister said, "going against the CCF."

"Politics is creeping in everywhere," he stated. "Nobody should be playing with people's lives." His remarks were taken as directed at the increased movement within the B.C. Federation of Labor to support the CCF in the next provincial election.

The minister said he was not singling out the IWA particularly and his statements were not intended to mean the labor movement was deliberately trying to sabotage the provincial safety record.

Mr. Wicks made his remarks at a press conference called to release the 1959 fatal accident totals.

There were 262 last year, compared to 208 in 1958. There had been a reduction since 1956 when there were 324. In 1957, there were 240.

In the logging industry the pattern was similar—in 1959 there were 76; 1958, 45; 1957, 44; 1956, 87.

The minister said he and the Workmen's Compensation Board were "greatly concerned."

He concluded: "It may well be that industry and labor should get together on this most serious and needless waste of human life."

Ghana Fear of A-Test Topic for Mac's Talks

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan arrived here today to begin a six-week study tour of Commonwealth nations in Africa.

Macmillan, accompanied by his wife, Lady Dorothy, will spend five days in Ghana before flying next Monday to Lagos, capital of Nigeria which becomes independent in October.

Ghana's prime minister, Kwame Nkrumah, led a big welcoming crowd at the airport here when Macmillan's plane landed from London.

Accra was gallantly decorated with flags and hunting for the first visit to Ghana and Africa, of a British prime minister in office.

Macmillan's talks with Nkrumah were expected to centre on Ghana's new constitution, now being prepared, which visualizes her as the first independent African republic in the Commonwealth. India and Pakistan are the only other two republics within the Commonwealth.

Another topic Macmillan will be faced with here is Ghana's opposition to France's projected nuclear tests in the Sahara, now expected in March.

Ghana fears that radioactivity from the tests could be carried here. These fears are emphasized now because of the seasonal harmattan, a steady, dry wind which blows directly from the Sahara across Ghana.

Macmillan will spend five days here, seven in Nigeria, nine in the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland and nine in South Africa. He also will make brief visits to the British high commission territories of Bechuanaland and Swaziland.

MAN'S BARK WORSE THAN POOCH'S TALK

LONDON (Reuters) — In the news today: A man who barks and a dog who talks.

The man, 65, has been barking on and off since he was forced as a child to use his right hand instead of his left hand for writing at school.

London psychiatrist Sidney Bockner, who did not reveal his patient's name, said that in the last 18 months it had become much worse. The man broke into uncontrollable loud barking every 10 minutes. He frightened his fellow-workers so much he had to quit his job.

After treatment with chlorpromazine, a nerve-quieting drug, the man reduced his amount of barking and is preparing to resume normal life.

Bockner said the man barked loudest at the dentist's and at other times when he was under strain. He believed it released a pent-up feeling.

The dog? He's a three-year-old Corgi named Corky who already has become a television celebrity. About four months ago, he approached his own ers, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ainsworth and said huskily: "Good morning."

His favorite phrase is "I am clever." He said this several times today at a press conference at his home in Drighlington, Yorkshire, northern England.

Corky and his owners live at the Spotted Cow Inn.

The talking canine stayed up late Tuesday night to record a greeting to American dogs.

His message for four-legged America: "I am a clever dog. Bye, bye."

BIG THRILL FOR BOY, BIG BILL FOR DRIVER

Letting a three-year-old child steer his car in a Christmas Day outing cost Saanich motorist Frank J. Eaves a $15 fine in Saanich police court Tuesday.

Police stopped Eaves' car when they noticed the boy—a neighbor's son—sitting on the driver's knees with both hands on the steering wheel. Eaves, too, had his hands on the wheel, but he pleaded guilty to driving with the controls obstructed.

"There is a temptation to indulge children that way," Magistrate William Ostler commented, "but a car is not the place to indulge them."

ASSESSMENT

appeals," the Oak Bay official said. "When we explain the reason for the increase, people seem to realize it is logical."

He said last year the municipality had a complete re-assessment which resulted in increases of up to 50 per cent on some homes and decreases of as much as 25 per cent on others.

DOWN SOME
"But the over-all total was down a little from the year before until the provincial assessment commission ordered an addition of the depreciation factor which raised the total back to where it was."

"That was an across-the-board book entry but this year every individual property has been re-evaluated."

The Esquimalt official said the increase there is on land only. Although averaging 30 per cent higher, some properties have been reassessed downward.

SHIFTING
"We are just in the process of shifting to the sliding scale of depreciation and it will take a few years to complete the change but it won't have much effect here—just a few dollars for some property owners," he said.

The land assessment increase resulted from periodic surveys of actual sales "and this brings the assessment closer to the actual market value of land which has gone up considerably."

"We have had the usual number of people calling us but mainly they want to find out what's happened. We've had very little in actual appeals but of course that could

Hamber Condition Remains 'Poor'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hon. Eric Hamber, former lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, remained in poor condition in hospital here today.

Hospital officials said his condition has shown no improvement.

Canada, U.S. Seek Trade Meet Accord

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canadian and United States cabinet members consulted briefly today on possible ways of ensuring that the two new European trade blocs do not throw up new barriers against North America exports.

These consultations may lead the way to a united Canada-U.S. front at economic talks opening in Paris next Tuesday. The talks have been called to find some way of bridging the six-country Common Market in continental Europe with the so-called Outer Seven, which includes Britain and other countries on the Common Market perimeter. The Common Market includes France and West Germany.

The primary concern of both the U.S. and Canada is that any link formed between the two blocs be devised along liberal trade patterns, to avoid hurting North American markets in Europe.

'PERSONAL MATTER'

Verigin Denies Political Trick

OTTAWA (CP) — John Verigin denied Tuesday night that the reunion he is trying to arrange with his mother is a manoeuvre in Doukhobor politics.

"It is strictly a personal matter between mother and son," he said of moves to have his mother, Anna Markova, admitted to Canada from Russia.

Mrs. Markova is the granddaughter of Peter (the Lordly) Verigin, an early leader of the Doukhobor religious sect, and there has been speculation her presence in Canada would be used to help establish John Verigin as the sect's spiritual head.

FUD WITHIN SECT

Recognition of John Verigin, it is said, would give the orthodox Doukhobors in British Columbia ammunition to overthrow the leadership of the fanatical Sons of Freedom wing, associated with a long history of bombings, burnings and nude parades.

"Mrs. Markova is my mother," Mr. Verigin said in an interview. "She lost her only other son, my stepbrother, during the war. As a result she is alone and I have been trying to arrange for her to come over so she can spend her declining years in Canada."

An official of the external affairs department said Tuesday Anna Markova will be granted a Canadian visa provided she can meet medical requirements, and that the Soviet Embassy has advised the government that Russia will grant an exit visa.

A depth of 4,000 to 5,000 feet is considered the maximum at which coal can be profitably mined in Britain.

Energy Board To Hear Plea Of U.S. Firm

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Energy Board today rejected an attempt to head off opposition by two American gas companies to an application by a Canadian firm to export into New York State.

The Niagara Gas Transmission Co., a subsidiary of Consumers' Gas of Toronto, is applying to export gas via Cornwall to a brother subsidiary called St. Lawrence Gas.

But, as the board hearings into five gas export applications began its second day, the board rejected the Niagara Gas contention that intervention by two New York companies lack Canadian public interest.

The board today continued to hear a long and fact-filled dissertation on gas requirements, contracts and other details of plans by Trans-Canada Pipeline Co., one of the five applicants.

Initial cross-examination followed.

The five-man board, making its debut, cleared itself of preliminary formalities Tuesday and heard the first witness in a stream expected to flow for several weeks.

BIGGEST BUDGET COMING FEB. 12

Premier Bennett confirmed Tuesday his 1960 budget will surpass the $300,401,394 budget brought down at the last session of the legislature.

He said the budget probably will be revealed Feb. 12. He reiterated, he plans no borrowing and no tax increases. "Great will be the benefits," he told a news conference.

He parried questions on a probable election date, maintaining it could come anytime before the fall of 1961. "But my thought today is toward 1961." He said letters have been pouring in from people urging this course.

OTTAWA DELAY COSTLY TO B.C.

'Slow Payers' Upset Bennett

The federal government is consistently slow in paying its share of joint federal-provincial undertakings, Premier Bennett said Tuesday.

He said although the Ottawa government is pledged to pay 50 per cent of B.C. hospital costs "at the end of November the province had advanced $31,881,000 and all we'd got back was $9,583,907."

SAME ON ROADS

He said it was the same thing in the case of the Trans-Canada Highway and on forest access roads.

"We are still waiting for a share of forest access road work for last year."

B.C. could invest the money and earn interest if the federal government paid up on time he said. — "It costs us thousands and thousands of dollars."

The premier was answering Okanagan-Revelstoke MP Stewart Fleming, who said recently the B.C. government had not acknowledged federal contributions of $24,000,000 paid to the hospital insurance scheme.

"He's just talking through his hat. Where has he been—sleep?" asked the premier.

WHY, WHY, WHY

In turn, he asked several questions of Mr. Fleming.

"Why does the federal government take 87 per cent of the income tax in B.C. (under the tax rental agreement) and only 15 per cent in some provinces?"

"Why is the federal government so slow in paying up?"

"Tell us why the Manitoba Conservative government is already saying it will increase hospital insurance premiums and they've just started the plan?"

"Let him explain how the Conservatives were elected on a promise to end tight money... and now it is even tighter and interest rates higher," said the premier.

Democracy in Danger?

BONN (AP) — The current wave of anti-Semitic incidents emphasizes the shakiness of democracy in West Germany. Most of the men arrested in Germany so far in connection with the painting of swastikas and anti-Jewish slogans in public places are under 26, too young to have been Nazis in the Hitler era.

Yet these youths mouth Nazi slogans and heap vitriol on Jews.

Desecration of synagogues and Jewish graveyards is nothing new in post-war Germany.

What is new is the response to a single incident, the swabbing of a swastika on the newly decorated Cologne synagogue Christmas Eve and the daubing in black paint of the words "Juden raus" — "Jews get out."

Newspapers picked up the story and spread it in Germany and abroad. Like a forest fire, the swastikas and anti-Jewish phrases spread.

Suspicion at first was directed to still militant Fascists, and particularly the neo-Nazi German Reich party. The party says the daubings were inspired by Communist agents and denies it is anti-Semitic.

Some observers consider that blaming the Communists is an easy way out, and that is used all too often as a cover-up. Certainly the anti-Semitic outbreak has been a boon to the Communist campaign against Adenauer's government.

The 30,000 Jews remaining of the pre-Hitler German Jewish population of 600,000 do not appear fearful that they will be harmed. Jewish leaders regard the incidents as more of a threat to German democracy than to their community.

BISHOP

Disgrace For German People

LONDON (AP) — Religious leaders today voiced abhorrence at the global rash of anti-Jewish incidents. They called for a firmer commitment to the principles of brotherly love among all men.

"I regard the anti-Semitic incidents as a disgrace for the entire German people," said Bishop Otto Diebels, of Berlin, a battler through the years against both Nazism and Communism. He is titular head of Germany's Evangelical Lutheran Church, and his diocese spreads into both east and west zones.

"I can only appeal to Christianity to do everything in its power to prevent such incidents in the future."

School Fire 'Suspicious'

NEW YORK (AP) — A small fire Tuesday night in a Brooklyn Hebrew school, where some 80 children were in classes, was labelled suspicious by fire officials.

One official said he was investigating a report that three boys were seen playing there just before the fire.

The fire occurred in the same building, housing the Veshvath Shearith Hapletah, in which a red and black swastika was recently painted. Damage was not extensive.

Radio Abuse,

BERLIN (CP) — The anti-Semitic campaign engulfing the Western world spread to ships at sea today as "Hell Hitler-Juden raus" crackled the European Radio Service emergency channel.

An anonymous caller station in northern Germany, asked the caller to identify himself but he failed to respond.

In West Berlin, 16 alleged members of the extreme right-wing youth groups were brought before a magistrate Tuesday. They were charged with anti-constitutional activities and ordered held in custody.

The West Berlin city government decided to crack down hard on neo-Nazi youth groups and sought to ban two main offenders, the National Youth of Germany and the League of National Students.

In Communist East Berlin authorities started an investigation into the smearing of swastikas and the slogan

B.C. MAN THREATENED

VANCOUVER (CP) — A prominent member of the Jewish community here Tuesday received a telephone call threatening his life. It was the first outbreak of anti-Semitism on the west coast.

Abe Arnold, editor of the Jewish Western Bulletin, said he received the call from a man who identified himself as a member of the British Union of Fascists.

"We are going to make soap out of you," the caller said. "We are after you. You had better watch your hedges (Jewish schools)."

Mr. Arnold said he is not concerned about his own safety but is concerned about the situation generally.

"We know certain groups in Vancouver distribute anti-Semitic literature. The caller sounded very convincing."

Purge Looms of Red Chinese

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China's Communists appear to be engaged in a bitter behind-scenes struggle which may erupt into a major purge.

Behind the struggle are these factors:
The Red Chinese economy is staggering, despite bombastic claims. Overworked peasants are surly. The Peking Press Daily refers to dissension in party ranks and the leaders seem divided on what's to be done about it. There are even indications of division on basic policy.

The struggle dates back a year—perhaps several years. It began to show up in the open last summer during one of a series of Red Chinese witch hunts. Those who opposed the "big leap forward" drive to industrialize the nation through harsh regimentation were branded "Right opportunists".

Several leaders lost their jobs or disappeared.
First Vice-Premier Chen Yun, rated No. 5 in the hierarchy, dropped out of sight several months ago, reappeared briefly last October and disappeared again.

Pen Teh-hui, defence minister and one of China's old revolutionaries, was ousted last September.

Two deputy ministers of foreign affairs, three deputy ministers of defence, senior officials of other ministries and scores of high officials were ousted without explanation. There has been no announcement of their fate.

This silence could mean the issue still has not been resolved, that Peking's divided leadership still is arguing.

Chinese Communist publications have admitted differences on basic policy within the party. Members of the party—apparently highly placed—have been denounced for favoring relaxation of the harsh discipline and aggressiveness that have marked Peking's domestic and foreign policies. They have been accused of Communism's worst crime: plotting to restore the capitalist system.

The party's hard core apparently insists Red China can survive only through cold-blooded regimentation and the tough foreign policy that makes it possible.

ON TRIAL—Charged with flying for the Indonesian rebels, Allen Lawrence Pope, 29, is on trial in Jakarta, Indonesia. The soldier of fortune, from Homestead, Fla., could face a death sentence.

We're Strawberry Box Dwellers

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadians have become a nation of strawberry box dwellers possessed with an "arrogance of land ownership," says a Vancouver architect who is making a country-wide study of residential environments.

C. E. (Ned) Pratt is on a three-member Royal Architectural Institute of Canada committee which has heard 300 briefs on planning problems in communities from Newfoundland to Alberta. It will hold hearings here later this month.

The condemnation of zoning laws, house designs and ill-planned urban areas he has heard in other Canadian cities is expected to be repeated at the hearings here.

"Canadians have generally become a nation of strawberry box dwellers, living in endless rows of split-level, ranch-styled, car-porced, septic-tanked houses," Mr. Pratt said in an interview.

The average Canadian has an ambition to build a three-bedroom, ranch-style home in the country, not realizing the hills and cattle he hopes to see from his picture window will be replaced by a jungle of rooftops, wires, asphalt and television aerials.

"Shopping centres, schools and gas stations suddenly start to appear. Soon the homeowner finds himself in the middle of an embryonic city," Mr. Pratt said.

Dissatisfied with the environment, he sells his home—usually for more than he paid—and goes even further into suburbia, where the growth pattern is repeated.

Other members of the committee are John C. Parkin, of Toronto, and Peter Dobush, of Montreal.

Mr. Pratt said blighted areas of cities could be replaced with row housing, playgrounds and parks.

However, higher earning power, mass production, low cost of land and the world's highest living standards have brought on the current conditions.

"It is ironic that in Europe over 354,000,000 people have been compressed into an area smaller than Canada. Yet in most of the average-sized cities you can drive out of the city and into the country in a short time," he said.

Mr. Pratt said Canadians can take a few lessons from European planners.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

60,000 Caravan Homes

LONDON—At random look as though the telephone on in a really big way in this country. Here we have a gadget which has been available since the end of last century and yet the latest post office report shows that phones in use have only reached the total of 7,500,000.

In the relatively few years that television has been available the sets in Britain have reached a total of 10,000,000.

And who make up the caravan dwellers? Mostly young marrieds, who find it a cheap self-contained home; transient workers; retired folks; and some who strangely love caravan-living for its own sake.

That book—Lolita—has eventually got itself published here, now that the new Obscenity Act makes the publisher feel he's in the clear. Foyle's on Charing Cross Road, the world's biggest book shop, put 250 copies on display on the morning of publication and they were gone before lunchtime.

The publisher's first printing of 25,000 copies has disappeared in a cloud of dust. Disappointed would-be buyers have to wait a month for the second printing.

Speed record to date for the M1, the new six-lane super highway that covers 73 of the 110 miles between London and Birmingham: racing driver Jack Brabham clocked 154 mph in his Aston Martin. Frequent sight on the M1: old cars, forced by their owners to their utmost on what amounts to a no-limit speedway, blowing their tops, including one gentleman asking so much of his venerable vehicle that the engine dropped out.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Fragrance, Color
Can Be Combined

There have been many books written on fragrant gardens and as I read some of them I wonder why more of the plants described therein are not found in our every day gardens.

Surely perfume is the most desirable of all attributes in a plant, and when foliage color and flower color is present also, a lovely garden could be the result of careful selection.

There need be no lack of permanent features in a fragrant garden, for there are trees and shrubs within the group. Some, like the balsam poplar, give off perfume from sticky leaf buds and newly-opened leaves, while others depend on their flowers for fragrance.

Color schemes may be worked upon, for it is noticeable that a large number of grey, and grey-green foliaged shrubs are high in the aromatic scale.

Well known in this category are lavender and rosemary. Less known perhaps, but just as hardy and attractive are Phlomis fruticosa (Jerusalem sage), Santolina chamaecyparissus (lavender cotton) and Perovskia atriplicifolia (Russian sage).

Winter flowering shrubs seem to be almost entirely in the fragrant class as we realize when we get a whiff in December and January of the Daphne mezereum and Viburnum fragrans.

Each season will contribute its quota with possibly the summer exelling all others since the ranks may be swelled by annuals.

Small gardens might well be devoted to this idea of growing one special group of plants. It would, I believe, create more interest both for owner and visitor.

Who'll Clean Window To Get Train Going?

(Second of Three Articles)
By ROGER GREENE

WASHINGTON (AP) — In New York's Grand Central Station, a commuter train sat on the track for 23 minutes while passengers fumed and the engineer waited for a yard man to clean the locomotive's dirty windshield.

Chided for delaying the train's departure, the engineer explained:

"A couple of days ago I cleaned a dirty windshield myself, but I won't do it again. It's not my job. The maintenance foreman should not have put the engine on the line in the first place with a dirt-fogged shield like that."

The railroads, pressed by stiff competition from cars, trucks and airlines, say this "not my job" attitude is a key factor in forces that are crippling railroad efficiency and saddling the industry with ruinous costs. They call it "featherbedding."

The union's reply, in effect: "Supposing you had just finished a hard day's work at a desk job and the boss told you to mop up the office because the charwoman hadn't showed up. Would you do it?"

The railroads and other industries have always trod gingerly around the explosive issues of jurisdictional work rules. As a result, a fantastic crazy quilt of regulations has grown up across the years.

The Association of American Railroads, leading the industry's anti-featherbedding campaign, cites the following examples:

Engine crew members were registering off duty at Hastings, Neb., when they were instructed to move their engine to a nearby track. They claimed—and received—an extra day's pay for the few minutes of extra work on the ground that it constituted a recall to work.

FREIGHT "BONUS"

The crew on a west coast passenger train collects a 50-per-cent bonus for performing "freight service" on the run between Portland, Ore., and Spokane, Wash., because the train carries a sealed freight car between these two points five days a week—even though the freight car is not touched en route.

The unions say the rules developed as labor's answer to a long history of management abuses, such as the speed-up. Guy L. Brown, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, says: "Railway employees could point to case after case where workers have been abused beyond the limits of human endurance. That's why we have the rules."

Some economists, on the other hand, say the featherbedding dispute is merely the symptom of a far graver problem—automation.

AIM TO SAVE JOBS

Union leaders concede that in the current strike-threatening American rail dispute, they are battling to save thousands of jobs from disappearing amid the tremendous mid-century upsurge of automation with its labor-saving devices.

The railroads are by no means alone in their charges of featherbedding practices, which they claim are "bleeding off" the savings expected from expensive new automatic equipment.

Among conditions reported in some areas:

In the building industry, carpenters sometimes refuse to handle prefabricated panels, and still cling to the old hand-saw when a power saw would do the work five times faster.

Painters demand double wages for using a spray gun; in some cities house painters refuse to use a brush wider than four inches.

Similarly, plumbers often refuse to use pre-threaded pipe. When it comes already threaded from the factory, they cut off the threaded end and rethread the pipe by hand.

In the printing industry, union rules say all local advertising arriving at a newspaper plant in the form of plates or ready-to-use mats must be reset by hand, proofread and corrected. The "bogus" or "dead horse" type, unused, is then dumped into the hell-box and melted down.

The union reply to management cries of featherbedding is generally this: The work rules grew from management abuses, and are calculated to ensure decent working conditions, prevent speedups and management arbitrariness, and to promote job security of workers.

SHOWDOWN NOT COMING?

CHICAGO (UPI) — A railway union official predicted today the railroads will avoid a showdown with operating brotherhoods over work rules now that the steel industry has failed to win greater control over work practices in talks with the United Steelworkers.

Two management spokesmen said, however, that they could see no connection between the steel settlement and the railroads' campaign.

NEWCOMERS OVERPAID CIVIL SERVANTS SAY

OTTAWA (CP)—Spokesmen for two civil service groups Tuesday rapped what they described as a trend toward federal government hiring of personnel at more than the minimum salary established for the job.

"The situation is causing a dilemma in the service," said Z. W. Sametz, president of the Professional Institute of the Public Service of Canada.

Mr. Sametz said civil servants who were hired at the minimum salary and since have reached the middle or top step of their salary range now are seeing "green recruits" taken on at the peak of the salary bracket.

MARGARET'S PET NIPS FOOTMAN

Pooch in Royal Doghouse

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret's favorite sealyham was in the doghouse today.

He was banished to the kennels after taking a bite out of a royal footman. For Johnny, a palace pet for close on 12 years, it was a tough rap.

When Princess Margaret takes breakfast in bed, the cuddly little dog often is brought in by a maid with the tea and toast. He became such a favorite that the Princess commissioned an artist to paint his picture two years ago.

Johnny, a miniature half the normal size of his breed, is one of half a dozen privileged dogs, spending the Christmas holiday with the Queen and her family at Sandringham House, the royal estate 100 miles from London.

Footman Basil Stibbs, who looks after the dogs, was bending over the little sealyham when Johnny took a short, sharp nip.

"It was nothing very serious," a palace spokesman said, "just a nasty gash above the eye."

Stibbs was patched up by Dr. James Ansell, the Queen's doctor at Sandringham. And

Theatre Divided

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—A theatre with separate screens and seating facilities for white and Negro patrons is scheduled to open here Saturday. A ceiling-to-floor partition down the centre of the building segregates the audience.

"LUDICROUS" interference by sponsors was charged Tuesday by television playwright Rod Serling. He told a Federal Communications Commission hearing his scripts had been altered or rejected by advertising sponsors.

Ice Capades Appeal To All Age Groups

Dramatically pleasing, and don't let the first word frighten you off.

This is the guarantee of the Ice Capades, 19th annual review, running in Memorial Arena Jan. 12-16.

Tickets, obtainable at Eaton's music centre box office, are selling fast.

Appeal is because productions are staged to catch interest and undivided attention of all age groups.

Classical music-lovers have opera on ice. For those not too "hep" on classical music, pageantry and costuming more than make up the difference.

Older methods of presentation are blended under multi-colored lights with new choreography.

Adults will be kept wide awake by children's numbers also, such as Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

HARD WORK

Nothing is spared for the program, either in expense, imagination or hard work by the cast.

Performances here in past years have proven Ice Capades to be a superior show, full of variety for all.

Passes Given Soldiers Who Shaved Girls

TONGDUCHON, Korea (UPI)—The U.S. army admitted today the front-line soldiers who shaved the heads of two Korean prostitutes had been promised three-day passes in Seoul for catching a thief or a prostitute in the company area.

The two women, Kim Soon Ae, 38, and Kim Chong Ja, 22, said Capt. John McEnery, Cheyenne, Wyo., commander of the 7th Infantry Division Tank Company, actually did the hair cutting, but an army spokesman said a preliminary investigation indicated this was untrue.

The women also threatened to sue the army for $20,000 for the head shaving and said they would be unable to earn any money until their hair grew out again—in perhaps a year. They also said they had been disgraced by the act and forced to leave their homes.

Kim Soon Ae, 38, speaking in broken English, told a group of newsmen in her rented room in a village near Camp Beavers that she cried when the soldiers cut off her hair.

"I begged pardon earnestly and promised I not enter the camp again, but they not cared. I tried resist but two GIs held me by arms while another worked with scissors, clippers and then electric razor," she said.

She said the other girl also cried.

She said she became a prostitute last September because of the difficulty in making a living after the clothes retail business she ran failed. Her husband died during the Second World War.

The Republic of Korea government demanded Tuesday that the UN Command take prompt action.

A foreign ministry spokesman termed the case a "disastrous incident." Both U.S. military and diplomatic officials braced for expected extreme public and official reaction to the head-shaving—an act many Koreans regard as a violation of a woman second only to rape.

The Romans, with help of the astronomer Sosigenes fixed the average length of the year at 365 1/4 days in 46 B.C.

New North Road Link Surveyed

(Compiled from CP)

VANCOUVER — Surveys will start this year on a highway from Squamish to Pemberton which eventually may be extended to Prince George, Highway Minister Gagliardi said Tuesday.

Mr. Gagliardi said in an interview the road north from Squamish will probably follow the treacherous British Columbia Electric Company route through Cheakamus Canyon.

Construction on the 54-mile, Squamish-Pemberton leg of the highway is expected to begin within five years.

ICE BLOCKS RIVER

VANDERHOOF — Rising waters of the Nechako River, caused by an ice block a mile downstream from this village, 60 miles west of Prince George, have forced at least two families to leave their homes.

At the request of worried officials the Aluminum Company of Canada closed spillway gates at the Kenney Dam near Kamano Saturday.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER

NEW WESTMINSTER — Garnet Iven Yeomans, 42, of suburban Haney, was acquitted Tuesday on a charge of murder in connection with the July 11 shooting death of James Oswald, 33, of Hammond.

The all-male jury deliberated 40 minutes before bringing in the verdict.

Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes described it in the "best traditions of British justice."

Yeomans testified earlier that during an argument with Oswald he did not know a gun he was carrying was loaded. Oswald died to death after a rifle bullet pierced his heart.

BOOTLEG CRACKDOWN

VANCOUVER — City Prosecutor Stewart McMorran took steps Tuesday to padlock to downtown Vancouver speakeasies.

Mr. McMorran said summonses were issued to the owners of two premises under a little-used section of the Liquor Act in a bid to halt bootlegging. He said more summonses are expected to be issued shortly.

NO TOLLS

VANCOUVER — Highways Minister Gagliardi said Tuesday tolls will not be charged on the $25,000,000 Port Mann Bridge now under construction near New Westminster.

He also said in an interview the new Second Narrows Bridge won't be part of the trans-Canada highway because the provincial government rejected a federal government grant so it could charge tolls.

Tolls will not be charged on the Port Mann Bridge because the federal government is paying part of the cost. It will be part of the trans-Canada highway system.

MAYOR GETS TOUGH

PRINCE GEORGE — Mayor Calvin Dezell laid down the law to his council Tuesday.

In his inaugural address he said he will enforce the provisions of section 125 of the Municipal Act and declare the seat of any alderman who misses three consecutive meetings vacant and call a by-election.

SOUTHERN U.S. HIT BY SNOW BLANKET

CHICAGO (AP) — A fast-moving snow storm which hit the southwest swept into the south today leaving a heavy blanket of white from Arkansas into North Carolina.

The season's first big snowfall—and the biggest in many years in some areas—curtailed travel, closed schools and disrupted telephone and power service.

Press Hides Council's Shortcomings

A Saanich councillor Tuesday complained that newspaper coverage of council meetings omitted the "silly statements" made by its members.

Otherwise the quality of newspaper reports was high, even cleared up the grammar.

But, he lamented, the stupid things said in council were omitted. For this reason, Coun. Murphy advocated TV and radio coverage of council meetings so that ratepayers could see and hear exactly what was said at times.

"If the electors got to know their councillors as well as they know most TV entertainers we would get more than 25 per cent of the eligible voters to turn out at elections," he said.

Grid Bids Galore

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Faced with an all-out battle for top collegiate grid talent, the Canadian Football League today began a no-holds-barred bid against the National and American Football Leagues for America's "name" college football stars.

With the National Collegiate Athletic Association meeting in New York, the Canadian League moved en masse into Manhattan "to acquaint American college coaches with the favorable aspects of our league so they can fully advise their players of our advantages."

The scramble for talent is getting rough. In addition to the established U.S. National Football League, the proposed American league is milking the graduating ranks in an effort to boom into competitive business. And the Canadians want it known that they are not taking a back seat.

'More Attractive'

"We have been affected already in our bid to get top stars," admitted Jim Finks, a former Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback now general manager of the Calgary Stampeders. "We know we have a game which in many ways is more attractive than American pro football. Many coaches advise their players, so we must let the coaches know how attractive our league is."

Thus, while the American pros are conspicuous by their absence from the N.C.A.A. convention, the Canadians are front and centre with a reception planned at which the college coaches will be dined on such northern delicacies as moose, venison and the big-time value of Canadian football.

There are two major points which the Canadians are trying to drive home. The first is that an American collegian has better opportunities playing in Canada and the second that actually there is little basic difference between the two games.

Each of the nine pro Canadian teams is limited to using 12 Americans or "imports" in each game but, according to Finks, most clubs carry 16 or 18 Yanks.

Look at Percentages

"Look at it this way," said Finks. "The National Football League takes 60 or more men to camp and keeps only 36. Of that number, more than 20 are rookies and only four or so usually make the grade. Each of our teams brings in about 20—and keeps 16 or 18 of them."

"Percentage-wise, that's certainly a much better break than in American football."

Defying the wrath of the American pros, he also contended that Yanks playing in Canada complete for comparable salaries in a shorter season, hold outside jobs because the teams practise in the evenings and get an exchange rate break when converting Canadian dollars into U.S. funds.

"The playing differences are no problem to the boys," Finks asserted. "We use the platoon system and there is no animosity from the Canadian players because they know the Americans are helping to raise their salaries, too."

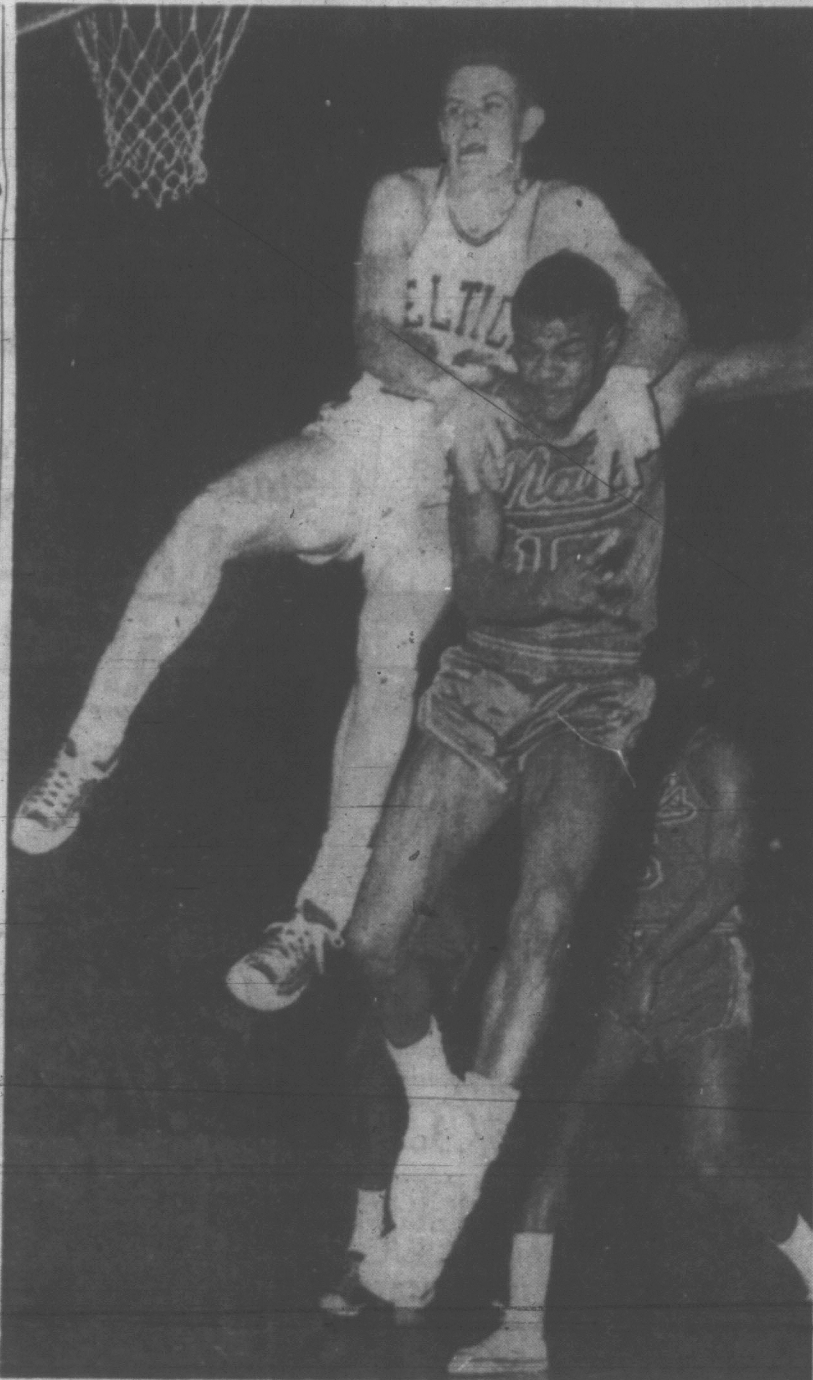

The basic differences are that the Canadian field is 110 by 65 yards instead of 100 by 53; the end zone is 25 yards deep instead of 10 and the ball must be run out when punted into the end zone; 12 players are used instead of 11, with five backs all of whom may be in motion; 10 yards must be made in three tries for a first down, and the defensive line must play one yard off the ball.

Gene Not Fussy About Opponent

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP) — Gene Fullmer will defend his National Boxing Association middleweight title against either Carmen Basilio or Joey Giardello in April, and he and his manager, Marv Jensen, "don't care" which one he takes.

"They both want the fight and one of them will get it," said Jensen, adding that no definite date or site has been decided.

Fullmer gained the NBA crown by knocking out Basilio at San Francisco last August.

IT'S HARD TO IGNORE THOSE $10,000 BILLS

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Boxer Yvon Durelle, named the sports disappointment of 1959 by Canadian sports writers and broadcasters, hinted Tuesday that he may attempt a comeback in the spring.

"I'm not saying one way or the other that I'll definitely return," said the retired Canadian and British Empire light heavyweight champion. He announced he was quitting the ring in November after being knocked out by Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo.

"But if I can get back in shape, I'm not going to continue turning down $10,000 offers," he added.

PHILADELPHIA (NEA)—With a brand new professional football war on, and the incipient American loop backed by more money than

... indispensable? I predict this after chatting with National League owners and because pro football is way beyond the stage where it required a big name for a front man.

The demand now is for an administrator who knows his way around and soft-spoken Austin Gensel with the big stick has all the answers as the result of having learned first hand.

"Unless we can get somebody better from within the league it would be utterly silly to elect anybody else," says George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins and co-leader of the money game's Old Guard with the Chicago Bears' George Halas. "You can quote me, I'll give you Gensel."

A mid-Western proprietor who doesn't want to be accused of electioneering perhaps builds the strongest case for Gensel.

"If we don't name Gensel," he says, "we'll be stuck with him anyway. He comes as close as anybody to being the indispensable man. If we hired someone else, we'd still have to keep him to do the work, and why pay two? It's as simple as that."

"Gensel would be perfectly satisfactory to me as commissioner," says Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the two-time champion Baltimore Colts. "We have to be very careful who we put in and Gensel has the required background and experience."

"Gensel has turned in a fine job and that's good enough for me," says Arthur J. Rooney of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Others prominently mentioned for the post were Paul E. Brown, general manager and coach of the Cleveland Browns; Donald S. Kelleff, executive vice-president and general manager of the Colts; and Marshall Leahy, attorney for the San Francisco 49ers who has handled legal cases for the league.

Brown and Kelleff are not interested, being too heavily involved in their respective franchises.

"Brown was my first choice," says John V. Mara of the New York Giants. "Leahy the second, but I most certainly have no objection to Gensel."

Gensel, 50 and just turned grandfather, was raised in Newark, N.J., and graduated from Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance and Commerce in 1932. He spent 13 years with the Federal Bureau of Investigation specializing as an accountant in anti-trust cases, where he was when Bell had the foresight to bring him into pro football as watchdog and keeper of the records.

The National League the past season played to a total of 4,147,986 paid admissions, an increase of 4.46 per cent above a year ago. The attendance at 72 championship games totalled 3,140,409. A total of 38 pre-season games swelled the over-all by 850,000 and $7,577 witnessed the championship game.

And Austin Gensel says expansion is the present main objective of the National League.

Pro football will grow up one way or another and a safe bet is that the NFL will stick to its Gensel.

$170,000 Tag On Ticats' Team

HAMILTON (CP)—An independent accounting firm has decided $170,000 should be the sale price of Hamilton Tiger-Cats Football Club, it was disclosed Tuesday.

The community-owned club, only one in the Big Four, is under league orders to be sold in private enterprise.

The accountants were called in to establish a price after a 15-man group, including some present Ticats executives, offered to buy the club from the city.

The price is subject to the approval of the franchise holders—Judge W. F. Schwenger, club president Jake Gaudaur, Ralph Cooper, C. C. Lawson and Hugh Bliton. The sale also must be approved by the owners of the other three teams in the league.

Proceeds of the sale, along with the team's profits since 1950, which reports said could reach more than $400,000, will go to a trust fund to aid amateur sports in the city.

Heading the prospective purchasers are Gaudaur, Cooper, former club and league president; team treasurer Frank Gibson, and Ross Fischer, city solicitor and hotel owner.

King Didn't Require That Large Handicap

King Lee had room to spare last weekend when the 150 handicap bowler won the "A" Division singles title in Gibson's annual Christmas fivepin tournament.

His 1,160 total was 80 pins better than Jack Goldie's 1,080, Stan Bell, Sr., was third with 1,061 in the eighth annual tourney.

Alex Stewart won the "B" Division with 991. Neil De Macedo, with 967, and Dianne Robinson, with 938, were next in line.

Prizes were $50, $10 and $5 for the first three places in each section.

Completion of the excavation for the new Victoria law courts building at Blanshard and Burdett is anticipated by the end of this month, works authorities said Tuesday.

A call for tenders for construction of the building is expected to be issued before that date. The five-storey law courts are expected to cost about $2,000,000 exclusive of landscaping and furnishings.

Four otters were seen sliding and playing on the ice at Beaver Lake on Saturday by five members of the Victoria Natural History Society.

The otters were coming up through a hole in the ice then scampering along till they gained momentum. They would roll over and over in the snow and dive back into the lake.

Watching their antics was a large blue heron who ran from hole to hole in the ice.

J. Donald Smith, Victoria M.L.A. who made an unsuccessful bid for the mayoralty last month, is in St. Joseph's Hospital undergoing examination for recurrence of an ulcer condition.

A safety course has been added to a list of 18 subjects

Association directors said today the course will be available to more than 6,000 junior forest wardens operating in 47 districts in the province.

It will deal with safe practices in a variety of fields, including forest industry safety, safe handling of fire and firearms, safety on the highway and afloat, and home and personal safety rules.

B.C. Municipal Retired Employees' Association of Greater Victoria Tuesday asked city council what had happened to its request last August for supplementary pensions to city workers who retired before April 1, 1957, on the old pension schedule they claim is inadequate for present living costs.

The request, made to all four municipalities, was referred by the city to inter-municipal committee.

CANADIAN UNIVERSITY SALARIES NOW TOP U.S.

TORONTO (CP)—Indications are the flow of Canadian university professors to the United States has been reversed because salaries in this country are higher now.

Studies by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and the Canadian Association of University Teachers show that salaries at Canadian universities, slightly below United States levels five years ago, now are as much as $2,500 a year higher.

"Last year 89 per cent of inquiries about job openings at one Canadian college came from Americans," said Dr. J. H. S. Reid, executive secretary of the Canadian Association of University Teachers. "This has certainly never happened before."

H-Bomb Stockpile in U.K.

LONDON (UPI)—The Daily Express said today the United States is building up a stockpile in Britain of at least 500 nuclear weapons, including H-bombs, "baby" A-bombs and hydrogen warheads for missiles.

A defence ministry spokesman dismissed the Express report as "pure speculation."

The newspaper said the United States already has up-wards of 400 nuclear weapons stockpiled in this country and is flying in about 100 more to arm the 48th Fighter-Bomber Wing, transferred in today from France.

"The total destructive power (of these weapons) equals at least 12,000 Hiroshima blasts," the Express said. "The H-bombs have a punch with the power of 15,000,000 tons of TNT, the tactical (baby) bombs the equivalent of about 5,000 tons."

City Marches to Front Rank As Art Gallery Wing Opened

By TONY DICKASON

A strong step forward in Greater Victoria's cultural life was taken Tuesday.

Dr. Robert Stark cut a ribbon, but he also cut into another era.

This was opening of the Ker Memorial Wing, Greater Victoria Art Gallery. Addition of this $30,000 extension to the Moss Street gallery allows more and better pictures.

And it also puts Victoria in the front rank of cities with art galleries on this continent... and ahead of many.

Dr. Stark, president of the gallery, after formal functions observed by some 200 art lovers, had this to say:

"I realize the necessity for a gallery for a city of this size, and it is hoped people of Victoria continue their support... it will still grow in size and types of exhibits."

The doctor added that an adequate art gallery is essential for a well-rounded community... "we are not all firemen, but we recognize the necessity."

Budget Up $16,000 For North Cowichan

Burglars Get Rifles; Cash At Weekend

Two service rifles and $37 cash were stolen in two of four burglaries reported to city police since Saturday.

The cash was taken from a box pried open at the Union Club, 805 Gordon, and the rifles, converted .303s with about 7,000 rounds of .22 calibre ammunition, were taken from a gun locker at RCSCC Rainbow at the foot of Robert.

At the Union Club entry was by way of forcing a storage room door, the money and a bunch of keys were taken from the office. Cashbox and an ornamental sword were examined for fingerprints.

A padlock was cut off the rifle cabinet at Sea Cadet headquarters to allow access to the weapons sometime between 11 a.m. Jan. 2 and 1 p.m. Sunday. A brass cleaning rod also is missing.

The home of Mrs. W. Tasker, 2753 Avebury, was entered by means of a basement window Saturday night. Curtains were torn down and a suitcase ransacked but nothing was taken.

Sunday night, Louis Kuni Sou, 2516 Wark, reported someone had entered his house by a front window when the NORTH COWICHAN — North Cowichan municipal council approved a provisional budget of $1,138,867—which is $16,000 more than in 1959—at the statutory meeting Monday when Reeve D. C. Morton and Couns. R. Clegg, Westholme, and W. T. Bowles, Chemainus, took oaths of office.

Reeve Morton, commenting on the budget, said the Chemainus fire protection area mill rate would go up, but "only an educated guess" could be given on the mill rate for local improvement and schools. Improvement for parks, adding winter employment, would amount to $10,000 this year, he said.

Committees for 1960 were named as follows: Finance, D. C. Morton, W. T. Bowles; public works, A. Staples; G. C. Smith; fire protection, W. T. Bowles, R. Clegg; parks, beaches and recreation, G. C. Smith, R. Clegg; police, traffic and signs, R. Clegg; hospital building committee, A. Staples, D. C. Morton; civil defence, G. C. Smith, and cemetery, D. C. Morton.

Council approved a motion to support the local Cowichan and Gulf Island Broadcasting Systems Ltd., in preference to a radio transmitter from outside the area.

house was temporarily unoccupied, then ransacked all the rooms without stealing anything.

5.1% WAGE INCREASE FOR DUNCAN TEACHERS

DUNCAN—Teachers in School District No. 65 (Cowichan) will receive a 5.1 per cent salary increase in 1960, as a result of an arbitration board finding.

The teachers had requested a 12 per cent increase.

The raise in salaries will bring individual teachers between $15 to $47.50 per month increases, depending on the type of certificate held and years of teaching experience.

The award, binding on both parties, ranges from $2,950 minimum per year for elementary teachers with lowest qualification to a maximum of $7,500 per year for high school teachers with advanced qualifications.

ISLAND DIGEST

Group Organized To Save Forests

A province-wide campaign has started to establish and preserve permanent "natural forest areas" in British Columbia.

A special committee struck by the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Institute of Forestry today urged members of the forestry profession to press for the preservation of virgin forest areas.

The committee, headed by Ralph L. Schmidt, of Victoria, made extensive research on forest areas untouched by man and the need for establishing permanent natural tree parks in the province.

Timber cutting and grazing would be prohibited and even general public use discouraged. The flora and undergrowth would be left undisturbed.

Robert Ahrens, also of Victoria and a member of the committee, said the general public was on the whole unaware of the scientific and ecological value of old stands of timber.

In some countries, he said, their value is acknowledged.

He cited as an example the city of Paris which has 375,000 acres of forest land in and around its perimeter. This was equivalent to about one-third the area of Greater Vancouver.

Scientists of all countries today acknowledge the importance of preserving virgin stands of timber, he said.

"Unfortunately," he said, "in some states it is now too late to set aside natural areas. They lost their opportunity. The axe came before the scientists."

"The question is: Are we going to let history repeat itself in British Columbia?"

Following the public hearings, the commission worked on its report until Aug. 15, 1959.

The committee in its report advocates the establishment of natural forest areas with "special legislation" to protect them from any form of exploitation. Some of the areas could include stands in provincial parks.

$26,150 TO POWER PROBERS

A provincial order-in-council Tuesday authorized payment of $26,150 to members of the Shrum Royal Commission which investigated B.C. power matters last fall and winter.

Chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum receives $9,950 and members John Dunsmuir and William M. Anderson each receive $5,100.

Following the public hearings, the commission worked on its report until Aug. 15, 1959.

FIVE TRAPS STOLEN ON SOMENOS CREEK

'2-Legged Animal' Hunted

By D'ARCY RICKARD

DUNCAN — Ernest Mayea, 50, Sahtlam Road, a trapper of muskrat, mink and otter in the Somenos Lake area for 32 years, has reported five traps stolen from his line over the weekend.

"Someone is stealing them as fast as I put them out," Mr. Mayea said Tuesday.

The thief is a "two-legged animal," he said.

The long-spring traps cost the trapper $1.20 each, and there is a possibility the thief is stealing trapped animals.

RCMP and game warden William Fowkes are investigating.

Mr. Mayea took a 35-pound otter Monday from his trapline on Somenos Creek, set out on Charles Kingston's property. The pelt will sell for $28 in Vancouver. Plausible muskrat pelts bring close to $1 each.

NO PROFIT

"I've been keeping the wolf away from the door this winter by trapping. But there's no profit in it this way. I've lost five traps and it will take 10 skins to make up for it," Mr. Mayea said.

During the depression when the trapper hunted with his father Frank, muskrat skins sold for a low 20 cents a hide. Throughout the war years they went to a high of $4. Now the pelts bring $1 each.

UNDERWATER

He knows the habits of the animals he's after and sets his traps underwater and well hidden. The stakes are set in deep water so the animals will drown quickly when they attempt to swim up-stream after the trap springs.

Ernie tells how his father once caught a blue fox near the lake. Another Frenchman, Joy Roy, trapped bear with his father in the early days near Skutz Falls on the Cowichan Lake Road. They learned trapping in Northern Ontario.

New Toastmasters Club Plans Different Twist

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor.

"To speak much is one thing; to speak well is another"—Sophocles.

Ever since you wore short pants—or bloomers—men of dignity, prestige and affluence have stood up at public meetings, looked you in the eye and said: "Unaccustomed as I am to public speaking..."

Minutes or hours later they ran out of air. And you, the listener, ran out of the hall.

Chances are you didn't recall the theme of the talk. Chances are, too, that you agreed wholeheartedly with the speaker's contention that he was unaccustomed "to this sort of thing." In many cases he had spent 30 or 45 or too many minutes proving it.

The offender wasn't a poor public speaker. Like most people he had been taught the English language, had a good personality. But because of lack of confidence and lack of training, he was poor at speaking in public.

A man similarly afflicted was Dr. Ralph C. Smedley. So poor at speaking in public "I was afraid to give my own name," Dr. Smedley decided in 1924 to form the first Toastmasters Club.

The purpose, then as now, was to get together an organized group of men over 21 who seek to increase their self-confidence through improvement of their public speaking ability.

All over the world men have belied the fallacy that self-confidence isn't important. They have done it by forming approximately 2,500 Toastmasters Clubs in every state in the U.S. plus 29 other countries. The membership roll contains about 3,000,000 names.

FIVE HERE
Victoria has five Toastmasters Clubs. Soon it will have a sixth. The embryo club, called the Pacific Meridian Toastmasters Club, has a slightly different twist. Most TMs meet at night. Pacific Meridians, consisting mostly of middle-income men from every walk of life, decided there were already too many demands on them for night meetings. Instead they gather every Tuesday for a luncheon meeting that is strictly one and one-half hours long.

They met Tuesday for precisely 90 minutes. The conclusion after listening and watching is that they have something.

As one business ed. who gets gastric butterflies whenever he has to stand on his feet and work his tonsils in public, the Pacific Meridian oratorical session was a lesson in how to speak and how not to speak.

Old-time Toastmasters Gordon Williscroft, Vic Gilbert and Bill Scott showed the younger slightly-burnt Toastmasters how it is done. Their voice inflection, use of hands, grammar and diction was as spotless as a new shirt.

Younger members like David Brown listened with awe and then when their turn came showed that they, too, are developing slowly but nicely the confidence which comes from association with Toastmasters.

When everybody dried their gums, Robert Baird, a bona fide, long-term Toastmaster wet his. For this meeting he held the role of general evaluator.

IMPRESSIVE JOB
The title is impressive. So is the job. Instead of criticizing member's talks, Toastmasters evaluate them. The compliments, if any are merited, are given. Then the evaluator picks each speaker apart, flaw by flaw. There's nothing personal about it. It's sole purpose is to show the speakers where they erred, how they might have done better. Here it was learned is where they separate the men from the boys.

Most people take criticism—or "evaluation"—like they take to pneumonia or extra income tax. Surprisingly, to an outsider, Toastmasters seem to thrive on it.

Bond Sales Hit Record

OTTAWA (UPI)—Sales of the Canada savings bonds 1959 issue reached a record $1,415,000,000 by the end of the year, Finance Minister Donald Fleming announced today.

Fleming said the sales were "in excess of my most optimistic forecasts."

Included in the total were 660,500 applications for $219 million on the payroll savings plan and 737,000 applications for $1,196,000,000 by the general public through banks, investment dealers and other institutions.

TERRIFIC GOV'T PRESSURE, SAYS MAGAZINE

'Major Victory for Steel Union'

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Steelworkers' Union scored a major victory in its contract settlement, Iron Age magazine says.

"The companies, under government pressure, lost their battle along major fronts," the metal-working weekly says. "The well-publicized local practices hassle is being settled along the lines the union argued."

As a result of the settlement, the magazine says, steel companies will have to raise prices. It is unlikely that any increases will exceed $5 a ton, and it is more likely that they will be less than $4 a ton.

"If some medium or smaller-sized companies raise their prices more, the competitive situation will bring them into line."

"Cost of the settlement, which the industry reluctantly accepted after terrific government pressure, is too rich for the blood of many steel companies."

It became apparent, with the announcement of the details of the agreement, that one man more than any other had shaped the terms.

He is Edgar F. Kaiser of Kaiser Steel, who broke the solid front of the steel companies in October to reach the first agreement with the union.

The contract with the 11 chief companies closely parallels the Kaiser contract.

Voting Charges
SNELGROVE, Ont. (CP)—A ballot box was opened illegally, cigars and candy were handed out to voters at a polling station by the reeve, and ineligible persons were allowed to vote in the Dec. 7 municipal election Chingquous township council was told Monday night.

DETAILS OF SETTLEMENT

Steel Peace Assured As New Pact Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Steelworkers' Union and the U.S. steel producers Tuesday sealed their new pact ensuring peace in the industry at least for 2 1/2 years.

The agreement calls for a 30-month contract to July 1, 1962. It provides about 40 cents an hour in wage-benefit increases. The workers formerly averaged $3.11 hourly earnings.

Insurance, pension and other benefits became effective immediately. There is no immediate wage increase. But an increase ranging from seven to 13 cents an hour becomes due Dec. 1, 1960, and a similar pay raise Oct. 1, 1961.

Cost-of-living adjustments up to six cents an hour are provided following the first pay raise. But the living cost allowance can be reduced if insurance costs rise above union estimates.

Among new contract provisions is one giving every worker $1,500 when he retires. Steelworkers already retired will get $5 additional a month.

NEW 2-CENT DROP DUE IN CANNED MILK 'WAR'

Look for the price of canned milk to drop another two cents a can in the next 48 hours.

That's the word from Victoria grocery stores today.

The canned milk "war" began here Monday when Alpha, an Alberta producer seeking to make inroads in B.C., pared two cents off the price of its canned milk. Quantity buyers saved $1 on a case of 48.

Pacific and Carnation, competitors of Alpha, immediately dropped their price two cents to 16 cents.

The price remained firm Tuesday. But early today Carnation advised local grocerias it planned to cut its price again by two cents to 14 cents.

MONTE ROBERTS

I have recently been exposed to the modern version of the town pump, namely, the coin-operated laundry.

If you do not know about the coin-operated laundry, this is a communal meeting place where machines, coaxed by coins-in-the-slot, automatically wash and dry your soiled linen, towels, and other items which are in need of soap and water.

The first thing I noticed about the coin-operated laundry which we patronize, is there seemed to be as many men as women using it.

I remarked on this to My Favorite Wife, the first time we took our small hamper down to the meeting place, and started the machines whirling and gurgling.

"No doubt they are bachelors, poor things," MFW said, and I agreed she was probably right.

The NEXT time we went to the washer-upper, we put the clothes in the washing machine, and we drove back to the house to wait out the 25 minutes required for cleansing.

And when the time was up, I said to MFW: "Guess we better go get the clothes out of the washer and put them in the dryer."

"Yes, it's time," MFW said. "But after all, do BOTH of us need to go back? After all," said MFW, "all you need to do is take the wash out of the washer, and put it in the drier, and that doesn't take two people."

"You're right, dear," I said, leaving on cue.

And the NEXT time the wash came 'round, MFW said: "I've separated the colored stuff from the white stuff, all you need to do is use TWO machines, the way I showed you, and..."

"Yes, dear," I said.

So the NEXT time a sufficiency of soiled linen had accumulated, MFW said:

"Tomorrow's your day off, isn't it dear?"

"Yes," I said, a hollow note in my voice.

"Well, it'll only take you a few minutes, just separate the white things from the colored things, use two machines, and..."

"Yes, dear," I said.

I have checked the patrons of the coin-operated laundries several times since then, and I am now convinced there are MORE men than women using them.

Not, I might add, ALL of them bachelors.

They are wonderful labor saving devices, especially for women.

Man Charged In Duncan Safe Theft

(From Duncan Bureau)

Joseph Gerald Pellerin, 31, was remanded without plea before Acting Magistrate R. F. Barnes in Duncan police court today on a charge of stealing a safe from the B.C. Telephone Co. office at Duncan.

Pellerin was arrested at 2 p.m. Tuesday. He is defended by Alistair MacDonald, Duncan lawyer.

RCMP recovered the 200-pound safe at the west end of Drinkwater Road Tuesday. It was stolen from the company office, 141 Jubilee Street, early Sunday morning.

PIED OPEN

The safe had been hammered and pried open with a crow bar. It was found in the bush.

An undisclosed amount of money is still missing but a number of customer's cheques have been recovered.

This was the second safe theft from the phone company office. The first was taken Nov. 20 along with $2,000 in cash and cheques.

CABBIE LOSES $300 AND FARE

A Victoria cabbie who got $7 from a plainclothes policeman for two mickies of rum lost out on his fare and in city court he was fined $300 today for bootlegging.

Through counsel Robert Harvey, Arthur Basil Curry, 3275 Alder, pleaded guilty to selling liquor last Dec. 13.

"It is bad enough for a taxi driver to be caught by a police officer in plain clothes, but it is worse for him not to get his fare," Mr. Harvey submitted to Magistrate William Ostler, asking for an order for the fare to be paid, which was refused.

'Change in Wind' On New PWA Bid

Pacific Western Airlines' second proposal to take over Victoria-Vancouver air service with three jet-prop Fairchild F27A aircraft today drew a slight "change in the wind" reaction from Greater Victoria civic and business leaders.

While many civic leaders withheld comment pending study of PWA's plan, the greatest shift in reaction came from Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Vigorously opposed to PWA's first plan, introduced last year, to service the route with Curtiss C46 aircraft, the Chamber today indicated the newest PWA proposal was "far more realistic" than the first scheme.

THREE COURSES

A spokesman said the Chamber had three courses of action it could take:

1. It could endorse the PWA application.
2. It could oppose it and press for Trans-Canada Airlines, the existing carrier, to carry on, or...
3. It could leave the whole matter in the lap of the Air Transport Board, the final authority on carrier changes.

The PWA proposal is scheduled to be discussed by the chamber's harbor and transportation group next week. After that it will go to chamber directors for consideration later this month.

The spokesman said the chamber would have to consider two points: what is the best local service offered and how would the PWA plan affect Victoria's bid to get transcontinental service.

PWA told city businessmen Tuesday it could begin Vancouver-Victoria service July 1 with the Fairchild aircraft, costing $3,000,000. The planes have 40-passenger capacity. PWA said it would provide the same service at the same fare as TCA.

CARRY ON
In Montreal, a TCA spokesman said his line "is fully prepared to continue service on the route as at present."

He said TCA plans to have a representative before the ATB when the PWA application is heard and "we'll retain the route if the board so decides."

Victoria Chamber of Commerce president Alan Pendray said he personally feels "this might be the time to make a switch."

"PWA appears to have a pretty good plane... this time they seem to be in a position to give better service."

SAME OLD PLANES
"My own feeling is that TCA has given good service, but they're still flying the same old planes. (TCA operates DC3s, has said it will use 48-passenger Viscounts in 1961.)"

Mayor Percy Scurrah said he wouldn't "even consider" the (PWA) application unless he had some assurance from one of the major carriers of one or two Trans-Canada flights a day originating and ending at Patricia Bay.

The mayor said there are "so many implications in the proposals they made for service between Victoria and Vancouver that it's going to take considerable thought to decide whether it would be advantageous to the city or not to support them."

WELL SERVED
Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele said the area had been well served by TCA. He felt the only desirable change was the establishment of a "first-class airport at Patricia Bay with longer runways."

Reeves George Chatterton of Saanich and George Murdoch of Oak Bay said they needed more time to study the proposal.

FWA met heavy opposition from the Chamber, Mayor Scurrah and business leaders when it proposed to service the route with Curtiss C46s.

The airline asked the ATB for time to reconsider its proposal and review the "whole picture."

Tuesday, nine months later, PWA submitted its plan to use the Fairchild.

2 Years for Boy In Barn Burning

Police Act Fast In Overnight Blaze

A 13-year-old boy was sentenced to two years at Brannen Lake industrial school for the wilful burning and $1,200 loss of a hay storage shed at his Central Saanich foster home at 1 a.m. today.

Police took the boy into custody at a Saanich house at 4 a.m., placed him in Coldharbour detention home and brought him before a juvenile judge in a special Central Saanich court sitting at noon.

He was charged with setting fire to a 12-by-20-foot shed containing five tons of hay at the farm of B. G. Macham, 2735 Martindale Road.

His name was not released because of his age.

The fire was spotted by a neighbor, who called the owners, who sounded the fire alarm.

The storage shed and an adjoining cattle shed about 10 feet away were both burning when Central Saanich volunteer firemen arrived.

GASOLINE SMELL
"We could smell gasoline all over the place," Fire Chief Clarence Rowles said.

Firemen quickly doused burning hay in the newer and larger cattle shed, from which about 10 animals had been turned loose before the fire, but were unable to save the other building.

Both fires were started inside, the chief said. "We found a gasoline can and spout in one shed."

Flames burned stubbornly in the hay, which firemen had to turn over with pitchforks to soak properly with an estimated 4,000 gallons of water from two pumps and a tank truck.

For the Machams, it was the second loss of a stock shed by fire within a year. The earlier blaze last summer also was allegedly started deliberately.

Ex-Deputy To Fight Old Boss

By PETE LOUDON
Times Political Reporter

Former B.C. deputy works minister Clive D. Campbell today squared off for a provincial election battle with Works Minister W. N. Chant—who fired Mr. Campbell last May.

Mr. Campbell announced this morning he will accept a bid to stand for nomination here for the Progressive Conservative candidacy in February.

Major-Gen. C. A. P. Murlison, former North Cowichan reeve, made a similar announcement last month. Assuming the two become candidates—and statements by party officials indicate this is almost certain—these remains but one Victoria seat open to Tory nomination.

TWO SOCREDS IN

The three Victoria seats are now held by Mr. Chant, Social Creditor J. Donald Smith and Liberal House leader George Gregory.

In announcing his decision, Mr. Campbell said: "I recently was approached by a number of citizens with the request I allow my name to go forward... since then I have received many indications of support and encouragement."

"After careful consideration, and because I feel that my many years of experience in provincial government... can be of value to the city... I have decided to let my name stand."

PRESIDENT PLEASED

President of the Victoria Progressive Conservative Association, James Barclay described Mr. Campbell as "... a man of integrity, competent and capable, and the association takes pleasure in the announcement he will allow his name to go forward."

Oak Bay Conservative James George added, "I am delighted... this is in keeping with the high standards which the party will set in B.C. in the coming election."

Mr. Campbell was born in 1911 in England and came to Victoria in 1920. He entered the works department in 1930 as an architect and assumed the dual post of chief architect and deputy minister in 1955. He served overseas with the army. He is a consulting architect, is married, has a son, 12.

He was centre of a controversy last May when suddenly dismissed by Works Minister Chant, who charged inefficiency. Mr. Chant in a later statement suggested there were political differences between himself and Mr. Campbell—a statement bound to be aired on the hustings if Mr. Campbell becomes a candidate.

Major Survey Task Given Beacon Hill

The RCN Pacific Command frigate HMCS Beacon Hill will leave Monday on a major oceanographic survey of northern waters for the Pacific Naval Laboratory.

On the same day, four sister ships of the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron will leave on an extended training cruise southward with officer cadets from HMCS Venture, naval officer training establishment at Esquimalt.

Beacon Hill will call briefly at two ports during the month-long survey: on Jan. 22 and 23 she will be at Prince Rupert, and from Jan. 29 to 31 she will be at Kodiak, Alaska.

The survey is the first of a series to be carried out for the PNL during 1960. The research vessel usually used for this work, the converted coastal escort CNAV Oshawa, is in for refit.

The other four frigates leaving Monday are HMC Ships Sussexvale, Ste. Therese, Antigonish and Stettler. Ports of call will be announced by naval headquarters in Ottawa when diplomatic clearances are received.

It is understood—but not confirmed officially—that the cruise will take the ships well down the coast of South America.

They are due to return April 22.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Grab Him, Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two little boys, three and four. I have another child on the way. My husband died six months ago when our tractor overturned on him.

Our pastor is begging me to marry him. He spends every spare minute trying to help me and the boys, and they love him very much. I am 27, and he is 33. I don't love him with the exciting kind of love every woman dreams about. He says it doesn't matter that I don't love him that way and that I will learn to love him because he will make me happy.

I want my children to have a father and I know this man will make a good one. Is it possible to build a marriage on this foundation?

UNDECIDED.

DEAR UNDECIDED: Run, do not walk to the nearest altar. Mutual admiration and respect are often a sturdier foundation for marriage than "the exciting kind of love every woman dreams about".

DEAR ABBY: I had to laugh when I read the letter from the poor lady who said her husband refused to be seen walking on the street with her if she wore eyeglasses.

Sidney Church Scene For Morning Wedding

Nuptial mass was celebrated recently in St. Elizabeth's Church, Sidney, when Pauline Cecilia Marie, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Harris of Sidney, and Robert John Beazley, only son of Mrs. R. R. Beazley, Victoria and the late R. R. Beazley, exchanged vows. Father Philip Hanley conducted the morning ceremony, assisted by servers Peter Harris and Morris Akerman. Traditional music was played by Miss Sheila Carlin. Soloists were Mrs. Wesley Jones and Mrs. Thomas Gurnow. Bride entered the church on the arm of her father. Her gown of white embroidered nylon over net was in ballerina length. She wore a chapel length veil and carried an ivory and gold prayer book topped with a spray of sweetheart roses and white streamers. Cousin of the bride, Miss Roberta Akerman, Fulford Harbor, was maid of honor. She wore a full skirted pink gown of nylon over tulle. A wide cummerbund accented the waistline. Her velvet sash was also in pink and she carried a white prayer book. Barry Lennard was best man and ushers were Ted Akerman and David Harris. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Father Hanley proposed the toast to the bride. An ensemble in medium blue and brown accessories was worn by the new Mrs. Beazley as her going-away outfit. Her corsage was of rosebuds. Newlyweds will make their home at 866 Craigflower Road.

Ever Make a Snow Cake?

TORONTO (CP) — There's something special about Canada that Mrs. Mary Healey likes. It's the snow—the only snow for snow cakes, the housewife from Manchester, England, said Wednesday. "It's lighter and doesn't have as much water as the heavy English stuff," she declared. "And it must be freshly fallen." She started making snow cakes in 1942 when she found a yellowed Canadian cook book calling for snow instead of an egg in one of its recipes. Eggs were as rare as pearls in Britain then. "I tried it and made a miserable failure," said Mrs. Healey. "The English snow was just no good." During the years she lost the cook book, but when she came to Canada she decided to try the cakes again with Canadian snow.

The Toronto Star found a copy of the recipe in a 50-year-old edition of the Canadian farmer's cook book and she made her cakes after a recent heavy snowfall. "I knew it would work," she said as she reported success. Here is the recipe: One cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup sweet milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 cups flour, 1 snowball a little larger than an egg. Stir quickly and put in a very hot oven before the snow melts. Mrs. Healey warns anyone who tries to make the cake that it is "pretty tricky" because the batter must be made a little thicker than ordinary so the snow won't make it too thin.

Orange Blossoms For Recent Bride

A wreath of orange blossoms held the shoulder length veil of Miss Judy Ann Dykes for her marriage to Ian Wallace Wood in St. Mary's Anglican Church recently. Her gown was of white satin and she carried a bouquet of red rosebuds and white carnations. Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Dykes, 661 Beach Drive. Groom is the son of Mrs. J. Wood of Edinburgh, Scotland, and the late W. J. Wood. Rev. Hywel J. Jones officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Cousin of the bride, Mrs. J. K. Revill, Vancouver, was matron of honor, and Miss Jo Ann Aubel was bridesmaid. Both wore gowns of red velvet with headbands and muffs of white fur. Sprigs of holly trimmed their muffs. Mrs. Revill's daughter, Keitha, made a charming flower girl in her dress that featured a red velvet bodice and a full skirt of white nylon. Her headband was also of white fur and she carried a white muff.

Told Boss Her Age, He Promptly Forgot; No Other Person Knows

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two generations of readers have grown up reading stories by Canadian-born Sally MacDougall.

Her by-line has appeared in the papers nearly every day for 50 years. At the end of 1959 Sally announced her retirement, but still refused to publicize her age which has been something of a mystery. She whispered it to her boss and said:

"I was afraid if you knew how old I was, I wouldn't get good assignments."

She asked him not to tell anyone else though, because "my friends might stop inviting me to parties, and I love parties." He won't.

But the editors of the New York World-Telegram and Sun couldn't really care less about the chronological age of Sally MacDougall. She is still, they said, the same staunch Scottish Presbyterian young woman who fumed to an interfering secretary:

"Look here, I talk to God every day. Why the devil can't I talk to Grover Whalen?" She talked to city official Whalen, and got the story.

As the page one story on her retirement was being set, Miss MacDougall was busy at her desk, writing a feature story to appear next week.

At an age long past that of conventional retirement, she's quitting, she said, because there are more other things to do than weekends give her time for.

Miss MacDougall was born in Canada, daughter of a Scottish Presbyterian minister. When her father died, she and her mother moved to Milwaukee to be near her older brothers. She worked for some time as a stenographer. Then she sold a feature story to the now defunct Milwaukee Daily News and was hired. That was 1910.

"It was society in the morning and murders in the afternoon," she said of her early assignments.

In 1919, after her mother died, she came to New York.

"I didn't know one living soul," she said. But an editor of the old New York World liked the way she wrote. She went from it to the Scripps-Howard World-Telegram in 1931.

"It's been a very, very satisfying life," she said today. "For one who doesn't marry, I can't imagine anything more satisfying than writing something that will help somebody—and I think I have helped some—even if it's only a sense of beauty it conveys."

Her writing, she said, is not for other writers but for the average newspaper reader who "doesn't have to be an intellectual." "I'm never hifalutin," she said, "no elaborate leads. He should get it the first time round."

"Hifalutin" or not, her writing has won her two awards of the New York newspaper women's club—for a series of interviews with wounded servicemen in the Second World War and a story about L. Albert Schweitzer. "I have found a living saint."

"I live pretty much by prayer," she said today. "I was brought up that way. You get taken care of that way. Nothing very bad ever happens."

"She has even talked to God in Gaelic," wrote John Ferris in today's World-Telegram and Sun.

"Occasionally she exploded when some brash young editor changed her copy," wrote Ferris. But this "could by no means be construed as temperamental. Sally was always moved by justifiable indignation."

City editor Norton Mockridge said: "I just wish that everybody in the newspaper business had the drive, enthusiasm, imagination and journalistic craftsmanship that Sally MacDougall has shown every day of her life. She is my idea of a newspaperman."

Her fellow workers presented her with an engraved farewell on a silver fruit bowl: "Indomitable newspaper woman, relentless reporter, implacable Presbyterian, unconquerable Scot, whose remarkable career in journalism has been one continuous triumph over both news and news editors, with great love and admiration."

As soon as she caught up on her sleep, said Sally MacDougall, she'll be back at the typewriter in her Greenwich village apartment to write children's books.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Buy Sweaters for School At These Low Prices!

By PENNY SAVER

No school girl ever seems to have enough sweaters. With January sales popping all over town, now is the time to stock up. There are better class V-neck sweaters and round neck cardigans, both with long sleeves, selling for $6.98 each. These have been reduced from $10.50 and are available in pink or a warm toast brown. School V-neck sweaters in dark green are also selling at the same price.

Full range, in a variety of colors, is available in long-sleeved sweaters and cardigans for sizes from six to 16. Sweaters are priced at $3.98 and cardigans sell for $4.98. These are of pure wool and are a wonderful buy at this price.

Young men of the family can be well groomed if you are able to take advantage of the savings in sports jackets that I've seen this week. Starting at size eight and going up to youth's jackets, 37-in chest is largest size; jackets are all in English tweed. Mostly in grey and beige, there are some heavier mixes included in the selection. Prices range from $10.98 to $25.

To complete your son's look of good grooming there is a variety of boys' slacks from which to choose. Sale-priced from $5.95 to $8.98, slacks include flannels, wool tweeds and wool mixtures.

Do you have trouble keeping suede gloves, handbags or shoes always looking neat and spotless? For 50 cents you can get a small suede brush in its own plastic container that would fit easily into the smallest of handbags.

For names of stores where these items can be found phone Penny at EV 2-3131.

Beef Stew Just Right For Raw January Days

Savory, steaming, satisfying beef dishes are just right for January. And what is more welcome than a bubbling brown stew, laden with tender vegetables and covered with plump, light dumplings?

For six good-sized servings you'll need two pounds of boneless beef; five to six tablespoons of flour; three to four cups of water; tomato juice or vegetable liquid; salt, pepper, chopped parsley and savory or other seasonings, and an assortment of vegetables such as onions, carrots, potatoes and turnip cut in serving-size pieces.

For the dumplings you may use your own favorite recipe or, for a change, try biscuit mix prepared as directed on the package.

First brown the stewing beef in a little of the fat cut from the meat, then sprinkle with the flour and brown again. This second browning adds color to the stew and also helps to make a smooth gravy that thickens as the stew cooks.

Now pour in the liquid and add the seasonings. Cover the stewing kettle and let the stew simmer over low heat for one hour, add the vegetables and let simmer another hour. Drop dumpling dough onto vegetables, cover closely and let cook 15 minutes more without peeking.

Another time when you are making stew, just before the two hours are up, top the stew with pinwheel biscuits instead of dumplings and finish the cooking in the oven. To make the pinwheels, roll out biscuit dough into a rectangle a quarter-inch thick. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with chopped parsley and grated carrot and roll up as you would a jelly roll. Cut in slices three-quarter-inch thick and arrange on top of stew. Bake 25 to 30 minutes in 425-degree Fahrenheit oven.

The diabetic should dry the feet thoroughly but should not rub too hard and should use cotton for drying between the toes, taking care not to pull the toes too far apart because this might cause cracks.

BLAME PARENTS

BRANDON, Man. (CP) — Parents who are critical of the school system often turn their children into unsuccessful students, says Carl Bjarnson, superintendent of Brandon schools. "In almost all cases where we are having trouble with children, we find the parents are not co-operative," he told a school board meeting.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It's Important for Diabetic To Give Feet Special Care

As I mentioned in this column a short time ago, many diseases show symptoms in the feet. It is of the greatest importance for the diabetic to give his feet special care. It is a well-recognized fact that the feet are danger spots in this malady. Careless cleansing or the use of instruments or self-medication, may bring disastrous results. A diabetic ulcer may develop and these are sometimes difficult to heal. Sometimes they do not heal and amputation may be necessary. Precaution is dramatically important.

According to the National Foot Health Council the feet should be bathed in warm soapy water daily. Cleanliness is most important. The diabetic should purchase a thermometer in order to test the bath water. This should not be more than three or four degrees higher than body temperature.

The diabetic should: Dry the feet thoroughly but should not rub too hard and use cotton for drying between the toes, taking care not to pull the toes too far apart because this might cause cracks. Use cocoa butter or olive oil or hydrous lanolin on his feet and lower limbs if they are dry and scaly.

Sponge the feet with alcohol if they perspire too much. Bored powder is soothing when used between the toes and on the feet.

Examine the feet once a week for any irritant such as corns, cracks, rashes, sores of any sort or raw places or blisters.

The diabetic should not: Try to treat himself for any foot troubles but should see a physician, podiatrist or chiropodist.

Use pads or salves or a razor blade; strong antiseptic or any such things on his feet.

Walk about barefooted, and should use slippers in a shower in order to avoid cuts, ringworm or other infections.

The feet of one who has diabetes should be examined by himself or his family once a week and most physicians advise their diabetic patients to have their feet examined by a chiropodist or podiatrist once a month. This sort of care may save you much discomfort and might even save your life.

727 YATES EV 3-0022

In this jet age, all of us travel at some time. The experienced traveller shown here is Baroness Monique de Nervo, a French businesswoman who is on the go a good part of each year. Trial and error have enabled her to arrive at some sound tips for easy and efficient packing. Here, she slips her lingerie case inside the top of a short ball gown (left) to prevent creases. She feels that tissue paper only takes up space and adds weight and that lingerie makes the ideal "stuffer." For travel, she picks clothes with straight or nearly straight skirts since she feels that they pack and travel best. Small plastic containers (centre) go into the toes of shoes. Every inch of space counts when you go by plane. Dressed for travel in tunic, hat and scarf (right) that complete her costume, Madame de Nervo slips a dozen pairs of gloves into her case. Gloves are kept in plastic cases in order to stay fresh and to keep them in correct pairs.

LOUISE DAVIS

ON ETIQUETTE

Groom Just Changed His Name:
Most of my fiancé's friends, even some of his relatives, don't know that he recently changed his name. Now that invitations to our wedding are soon to be ordered, how should this be handled? To say "to Mr. John Joseph Warren" would mean nothing to about half of the people on the list who might think I am marrying somebody else.

Louise Davis Answers:
A situation like this is so rare that we must meet it with common sense. I'll give you a couple of suggestions, any of which would be acceptable. (1) Your fiancé can mail cards immediately to friends, acquaintances and relatives, telling them of his change of name. (2) When ordering your invitations, you can have them read, "the former John XXX." (3) Instead of having the former name on the invitations, you can write it neatly by hand for those whom you think have not been informed. I am in favor of No. 2 because it would be neater and less time-consuming.

Entertaining Boomer's Parents:
We have a young man rooming at our house and he treats me like a second mother. His parents and fiancée will be here soon for a weekend and I was wondering if it would be proper for me to invite them all for Sunday brunch. We have met the family and enjoy each other's company.

Louise Davis Answers:
By all means, invite the family and fiancée for Sunday brunch. I suggest that you phrase the invitation in such a way that it will be evident that they will be your guests and not keep them wondering if they should "pay their way."

Salt Spring Notes
Mr. Jim Crawford has returned to Ottawa, where he is employed by the Federal Government Geological Survey, after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Crawford, Beddis Road, Ganges. Also guests during the vacation were his sister, Miss Rosemary Crawford, Mr. W. Stone and Nicky, all of Victoria. His brother, Thomas Crawford, and three-year-old daughter Nicolette, were also home for the holiday season after five years in France. They have been transferred to Cold Lake, Alta.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Minchin, Vesuvius Bay, visited in Victoria during the holiday season with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. A. Minchin, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Raine.

Traveller Should Choose Clothes Carefully; Advance Planning Makes Packing Simpler

In this jet age, we all will travel far more frequently than we did when time was a predominant factor. Any trip will be more pleasant if careful thought has been given to the wardrobe you will take with you and the way in which your luggage is packed. Some interesting and helpful ideas on packing come from Madame de Nervo, who travels in the interest of the French champagne industry. Knowing that she will be considerably "on the go" in her travels, she chooses clothes that will travel well and serve more than one occasion. This helps to keep that precious weight allowance down, too. To keep your clothing from wrinkling, she packs heavier garments on the bottom and places all garments in a flat position. And since tissue paper takes up room and adds weight, she lines the creases in her clothing with her lingerie instead.

INSIDE SHOES
As an additional space-saving device, Madame de Nervo tucks small tubes and bottles into her shoes, and takes as few shoes as possible to keep the weight down. She depends on accessories rather than clothing changes to keep her smartly dressed, and believes more in blending colors, and textures than in "matching" everything. All of this chic woman's travel hats are crushable for easy packing, and since she feels that a change of gloves can alter the entire character of an outfit, she includes many pairs in different colors and styles in her luggage. If you know you will not be using certain garments in one city, you might take the advice of this well-travelled woman and send them on ahead. But be sure to completely unpack what you do have in your bags along every cosmetic you can think of. You can always buy what you forgot. If you give careful thought to what you take when you travel here or abroad, your trip will be more enjoyable. Just pack carefully and, above all, don't take along a department store. There's bound to be one wherever you go.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times. Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Allan Page, age 10, of St. Catharines, Ontario, for his question:

How big is the Amazon?

The Nile, the Mississippi-Missouri and the Amazon are each about 4,000 miles long and no one can say for sure which is the longest river in the world. But there are other ways to measure the size of a stream or a great river system. One of them is the flow—the volume of water drained and discharged into the sea. Here the Amazon is without question champion of the world. It pours more water into the ocean than the Nile and the Mississippi combined—plus Yangtze River thrown in for good measure.

The source of the mighty river trickles down from glacial lakes in the lofty Andes, only 75 miles from the Pacific Ocean. It flows due east, gathering up the waters from about 1,100 tributaries and empties itself into the Atlantic at the equator. From source to mouth, the mighty stream is about 3,900 miles long and, with its tributaries, it drains one-third of the sub-continent of South America—an area of about two and a half million square miles.

About 2,000 from its mouth, the tremendous river is already almost two miles wide. As it goes on its way, gathering waters from the north and the south, it gets deeper. It is 100 feet deep when still 1,000 miles from the sea. At 750 miles from the sea it is 175 feet deep. During the seasons of high water, ocean vessels can sail up the Amazon from the Atlantic 2,300 miles to Peru.

At its mouth, the mighty river is 60 miles wide and it sweeps its fresh waters 100 miles or more out into the salty Atlantic. The mouth of the Amazon is an enormous delta region because of the impact of the flow of fresh water into the salty sea. On its long journey, the river and its network of streams gather up mud, silt and topsoil. It is estimated that 160 million tons of this debris is dumped into the delta every year.

Dangerous to Human Life

The climate along the course of the Amazon is wet and hot. Most of the main stream flows through dense, tropical rain forests. This is a region of steaming heat thronged with swarms of hungry insects, gaudy flowers and treacherous snakes. There are also malaria and other diseases dangerous to human life. An area more than half the size of the United States is still unexplored, and likely to remain so. As far as we know, only a few scattered tribes of Indians are able to cope with life in the hazardous rain forests of the Amazon.

The jungle may be unfriendly to man, but it is certainly not unkind to plant life. Here in these steamy forests there is a greater variety of plant life than in any place on earth. The Amazon River

Red Paper Raided

PARIS (Reuters) — Police raided newspaper delivery centres here early today and seized all copies of the pro-Communist newspaper Liberation because of comments on a critical International Red Cross report about detention camps in Algeria.

155-YEAR CAREER ENDS

Railway That Once Tried Sails on Trains, Folds

MUMBLES, Wales (AP) — The Mumbles Railway Company, the only railroading enterprise that ever tried to use sails for locomotion, quit business Tuesday.

It had given the people of eastern Wales good service for 155 years. Now persons who want to travel from the centre of Swansea to Oystermouth on the coast will have to go by bus.

Tracks of the Mumbles Railroad run along the west shore of Swansea Bay where it's usually windy. So it was only natural that in the 1870s the proprietors hit on the idea of sail-trains.

Sails were fitted to what was called an "iron wagon with a capacity for 12 passengers." The wagon made the 5½ miles triumphantly in 45 minutes.

But at the end of the line the wind died down, as it is disposed to late in the day in these Welsh ports.

It is impossible for a sailor to tack on a railroad line. So the management came to the regretful conclusion that there was no future for admirals on a railroad.

The Mumbles Railroad was no crackpot undertaking. It paid a lot of dividends in its day. It hauled up to 3,000,000 passengers a year. As it quit it had 13 double-decked cars, 50 employees and a right-of-way overlooking pleasant scenery.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Ed (Kookie) Byrnes stretched out on the bed in his hotel room and spoke into the phone. "Will you ask her to call me back in an hour?" he said.

And then, came another call. "No, I'm not engaged to anybody," I heard him saying.

He turned back to me. "That was somebody wanting to know if the girl I was walking in Central Park with this morning is my fiancée. My fiancée!"

"Looks like you have to beat 'em off with a club," I remarked to the polite, good-looking 26-year-old who plays the hip parking lot attendant in "77 Sunset Strip" on TV. But I was thinking—what would Rudolph Valentino have been with the dames if there'd been television instead of just little old silent movies?

"Two years ago you could have gone around New York unnoticed," I said.

"Two years—one year!" he howled. "Two years ago I was sitting in the drug store in Radio City waiting till somebody with some money came in and bailed me out."

And now it's front page news in the trade papers that Kookie's "on layoff" and that his agents are hassling with Warner Bros. about a new contract raising his pay from $500 to $1750 a week and giving him a chance to do some non-Kookie TV roles, too, and that Warner's are shooting without him to bring his agents into line—even using other actors in his place.

Ed Wynne of the Harwyn gave a party for the six-foot

JUNE HAVOC... thoughtful gift

blondie-bachelor—at which I saw five members of the agency representing Kookie—besides Hugh O'Brien, Monique Van Vooren, briefly Paul Stewart, Dolores Wilson, et al. He seemed relieved when I got him away from his female admirers. He wouldn't talk about the job hassle at all.

The Midnight Earl... John Barrymore Jr. tried to reconcile with Cara Williams again (on his return from Rome, bound for Hollywood) but she replied: "Negative"... Billy Rose was touched by one holiday gift: a folder of baby pictures of Gypsy Rose Lee from June Havoc. Gypsy gave Billy an Afghan puppy which got lonesome in the big house amid the expensive rugs and was sent back to Gypsy's house to wait her return from St. Petersburg, Fla., where she's doing her act... Comedy writer Coleman Jacoby gave an eggnog party at which several guests got under the influence of cinnamon.

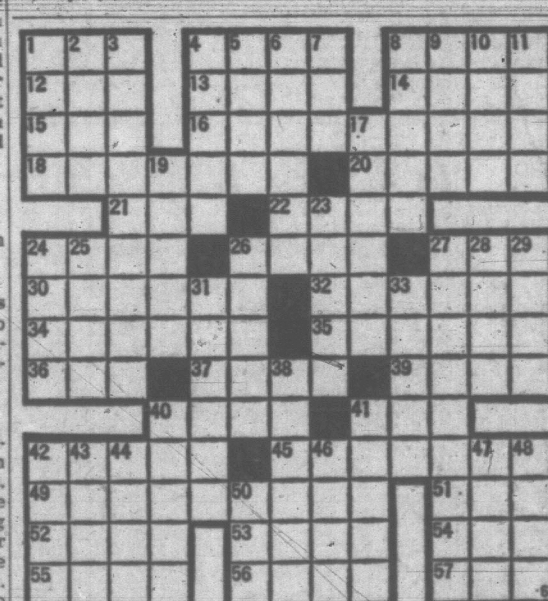

Earl's Pearls: "Some married men embrace their wives as if they're afraid of being penalized for holding"—Lem Hubbard.

Wish I'd Said That: Sou Chan, whose injury when hit by an auto caused friends to write from all over the world, coined a "new" Chinese proverb: "Car run over, makes cup run over."

Today's Worst Daffynition: "Contour—a tour taken by a gang of convicts"—Tony Pettito.

BOY WASTING TO DEATH AS DOCTORS HELPLESS

PERTH, Australia (Reuters) — Doctors here said today they are fighting a losing battle against tribal witchcraft to save a 15-year-old aboriginal boy who is "wasting to death" in the Perth hospital.

Doctors said the boy, Charlie Yundar, angered his witch doctor by prying into the secrets of the native "man-making" ritual. The witch doctor jabbed the boy in the mouth with sticks and told him he would die.

The boy was flown here from Derby, 1,200 miles away on the northwest coast, and the stick wounds were cured, but doctors could not convince him that he would live.

Now they say his death is only a matter of time.

April Visit For De Gaulle

PARIS (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle will visit Canada from April 19 to 22 and then will go to the United States "until the end of the same month," it was announced today.

PRESIDENT DE GAULLE
... sets date

A brief communique published by the Elysee Palace, the president's official office, said:

"Gen de Gaulle has been invited to pay an official visit to the United States and Canada at the end of next April."

"The president of the republic has accepted with pleasure these two invitations."

HAD ACCEPTED BEFORE

The French president had long accepted both invitations in principle but the specific dates had not been set. These depended on the date for an East-West summit conference, now set for May 16 in Paris.

De Gaulle's visit to Canada and the U.S. will follow his official visit early in April to Great Britain.

Since his return to power in 1958, de Gaulle has crisscrossed France's vast African interests with repeated visits but has kept his other diplomatic visits to Italy and West Germany.

TO RESTORE PRESTIGE

It was part of his campaign to restore France's prestige that other chiefs of state come first to France. This has been accomplished through President Eisenhower's official visit to France and the spate of Paris meetings which have brought together Western leaders many times.

De Gaulle is now having a vacation in southern France. The need for a vacation was heightened by the loss of his younger brother, Pierre, who died at Christmas time.

In Ottawa, it was learned that President de Gaulle will visit Montreal, Toronto and Quebec City in addition to the national capital.

Governor-General and Mrs. Vanier have invited President and Mrs. de Gaulle to be their guests at Government House April 19 and 20.

The sequence of General de Gaulle's visits to the various centres has not been worked out. However, he was expected to land at Montreal April 19 and probably then proceed to Ottawa, remaining in the capital until the morning of the 21st.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said some time ago that he hoped de Gaulle would address Parliament during his visit here. However it appeared unlikely today that he would do so as Parliament will be in Easter recess at the time.

'There's Enough Of Us Here Now'

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — "There are too many Jews in this country — we're going to fix them," an anonymous caller told a local radio station Tuesday night.

The telephone call, received by radio station CKNW, was the third sign of anti-Semitism on the west coast. It followed a threatening call to Abe Arnold, editor of the Jewish Western Bulletin and a similar call to the Vancouver Sun.

CKNW recorded part of the conversation with the caller, who identified himself as a member of British Union of Break of Anti-Semitism.

Fascists, and broadcast it today. Mr. Arnold said it was undoubtedly the same man who called him Tuesday.

The man, who had a Lancashire accent, told CKNW: "Hitler killed only 5,000,000. He didn't make a good enough job of it. He should have killed 8,000,000."

"But anyway, we're going to work on them. There's enough of us in this country now and we've got organized again like we did before the war."

Mr. Arnold said he is certain some international organization must be behind the outbreak of anti-Semitism.

Flood of Queries Sparked By Gov't Assessment Order

Oak Bay assessor's office today reported a flood of inquiries by residents who received increased assessment notices as a result of a provincially-ordered change in depreciation schedules on homes.

He said the average increase is about 4 1/2 per cent on standard homes but as high as 12 per cent on luxury homes.

The same story was repeated in Esquimalt where a general increase averaging 30 per cent was applied on land only.

Victoria and Saanich assessment departments reported no general increase on assessments were made in those municipalities this year.

GOVT BLAMED

One irate Oak Bay resident blamed the assessment increase on the provincial government.

"This may appear to be a municipal matter but in actual fact it is not," he explained.

No Tax Increases 'Nonsense'—Strachan

CCF Opposition Leader Robert Strachan today blasted the claims of Premier Bennett on Tuesday that there will be no tax increases this year. (See page 3.)

"When the homeowners of B.C. receive their tax notices this year, many thousands will find the policies of this government have increased their assessments — considerably — and this will mean an increase in taxes."

"In repeating this nonsense, the premier hopes that the people of B.C. will not realize that in the past seven years he has overtaxed them to the

'Flip of Fate' Fatal to 34 In Air Crash

Planes Switched For Holidayers

(Times News Services)

BOLIVIA, N.C. — Thirty-four persons died early today when a National Airlines plane carrying vacationers from New York to Florida crashed with explosive violence near the North Carolina coast.

One of the first persons on the scene said he found "bodies scattered all over the field."

Some of the victims wore life jackets, indicating they may have had last second warning of a possible ocean crash.

At least 25 bodies had been found by noon.

The 29 passengers died by a flip of fate's coin. They were among 105 booked on a jet airliner. But crewmen found a crack in the jet's windshield and it was ordered out of service.

The 105 passengers were divided between two smaller, propeller-driven, planes on a first-come, first-served basis at two different airport gates. One plane flew to the Florida sunshine without incident. The other carried its charges to instant death.

The dead included 29 passengers, mostly from the New York metropolitan area, and five crew members.

The wreckage, strewn over 12 acres of the jungle-like Green Swamp area, was broken into three main pieces. Several residents reported hearing an explosion.

The plane crashed on the small farm of Richard Randolph. His wife, Letzie, was awakened by the noise and she awakened her husband.

BIRTHDAY

Celebrating 78th birthday today as United States Congress began new session was House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

'There Was Big Boom Like Dynamite'

"We heard an engine going chug-a-chug," he said, "like it was cutting in and out. Then it sounded like tin doors and windows ripping off. Then there was a big boom like dynamite." Randolph arose and looked out the window. He could see nothing but a small flame which soon went out. He returned to bed.

Early this morning their small son McArthur, went to the field to see what happened and found the plane.

The flight plan called for the plane to hug the coast on the leg from New York to Wilmington, then to swing out to sea for the overwater leg to Palm Beach, Fla. Weather conditions were to dictate when

WICKS MAKES GRAVE CHARGE

Labor Politics Linked to Deaths

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks today linked political action in the IWA with a serious increase in fatalities in the B.C. lumber industry last year.

He said due to politics in the woodworkers' trade union, the annual IWA safety conference last year had a very poor turnout, and though he had been invited to attend in past years, not this time.

He gained the opinion, he said, that persons who in the past have spurred the safety program, have now been removed from office.

JOBS AFFECTED

"Politics has got into office appointments and elections. I have the opinion that anyone expressing any independence of mind — they automatically get removed from office."

Asked what he meant by independence of mind, the minister said, "going against the CCF."

"Politics is creeping in everywhere," he stated. "Nobody should be playing with people's lives." His remarks were taken as directed at the increased movement within the B.C. Federation of Labor to support the CCF in the next provincial election.

The minister said he was not singling out the IWA particularly and his statements were not intended to mean the labor movement was deliberately trying to sabotage the provincial safety record.

Mr. Wicks made his remarks at a press conference called to release the 1959 fatal accident totals.

There were 262 last year, compared to 208 in 1958. There had been a reduction since 1956 when there were 324. In 1957, there were 240.

In the logging industry the pattern was similar — in 1959 there were 76; 1958, 45; 1957, 44; 1956, 87.

The minister said he and the Workmen's Compensation Board were "greatly concerned."

He concluded: "It may well be that industry and labor should get together on this most serious and needless waste of human life."

Qualified diplomats here said they had no first-hand confirmation of the reports.

But they noted that both Poland and Yugoslavia have been unusually reticent about the recent expulsion from Poland of the Yugoslav military attaché, Col. Nikola Pejnovic, and his assistant, Maj. Szezoar Pazin. These expulsions became known from diplomatic sources in Warsaw Dec. 30.

Persistent rumors circulated in Yugoslavia Tuesday that a severe strain has developed in friendly relations between Yugoslavia and Poland.

Ghana Fear of A-Test Topic for Mac's Talks

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan arrived here today to begin a six-week study tour of Commonwealth nations in Africa.

Macmillan, accompanied by his wife, Lady Dorothy, will spend five days in Ghana before flying next Monday to Lagos, capital of Nigeria which becomes independent in October.

Ghana's prime minister, Kwame Nkrumah, led a big welcoming crowd at the airport here when Macmillan's plane landed from London.

Accra was gaily decorated with flags and hunting for the first visit to Ghana and Africa, of a British prime minister in office.

Macmillan's talks with Nkrumah were expected to centre on Ghana's new constitution, now being prepared, which visualizes her as the first independent African republic in the Commonwealth. India and Pakistan are the only other two republics within the Commonwealth.

Another topic Macmillan will be faced with here is Ghana's opposition to France's projected nuclear tests in the Sahara, now expected in March.

Ghana fears that radioactivity from the tests could be carried here. These fears are emphasized now because of the seasonal harmattan, a steady, dry wind which blows directly from the Sahara across Ghana.

Macmillan will spend five days here, seven in Nigeria, nine in the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland and nine in South Africa. He also will make brief visits to the British high commission territories of Bechuanaland and Swaziland.

MAN'S BARK WORSE THAN POOCH'S TALK

LONDON (Reuters) — In the shows today: A man who barks and a dog who talks.

The man, 65, has been barking on and off since he was forced as a child to use his right hand instead of his left hand for writing at school.

London psychiatrist Sidney Bockner, who did not reveal his patient's name, said that in the last 18 months it had become much worse. The man broke into uncontrollable loud barking every 10 minutes. He frightened his fellow-workers so much he had to quit his job. After treatment with chlorpromazine, a nerve-quieting drug, the man reduced his amount of barking and is preparing to resume normal life.

Bockner said the man barked loudest at the dentist's and at other times when he was under strain. He believed it released a pent-up feeling.

The dog? — He's a three-year-old Corgi named Corky who already has become a television celebrity. About four months ago, he approached his own ers, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Aunsworth and said huskily: "Good morning."

His favorite phrase is "I am clever." He said this several times today at a press conference at his home in Drighlington, Yorkshire, northern England.

Corky and his owners live at the Spotted Cow Inn. The talking canine stayed up late Tuesday night to record a greeting to American dogs. His message for four-legged America: "I am a clever dog. Bye, bye."

That's good news for us provincial taxpayers about Mister Bennett not raising taxes, but as Canadian taxpayers and municipal taxpayers: kin we afford such generosity?

What happens when these world leaders run out of countries to visit?

The Red Cross shouldn't have called for blood in vein.

New North Road Link Surveyed

(Compiled from CP)

VANCOUVER — Surveys will start this year on a highway from Squamish to Pemberton which eventually may be extended to Prince George, Highway Minister Gagliardi said Tuesday.

Mr. Gagliardi said in an interview the road north from Squamish will probably follow the treacherous British Columbia Electric Company route through Cheakamus Canyon.

Construction on the 54-mile, Squamish-Pemberton leg of the highway is expected to begin within five years.

ICE BLOCKS RIVER

VANDERHOOF — Rising waters of the Nechako River, caused by an ice block a mile downstream from this village, 60 miles west of Prince George, have forced at least two families to leave their homes.

At the request of worried officials, the Aluminum Company of Canada closed spillway gates at the Kenny Dam near Kamano Saturday.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER

NEW WESTMINSTER — Garnet Iven Yeomans, 52, of suburban Haney, was acquitted Tuesday on a charge of murder in connection with the July 11 shooting death of James Oswald, 33, of Hammond.

The all-male jury deliberated 40 minutes before bringing in the verdict.

Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes described it in the "best traditions of British justice."

Yeomans testified earlier that during an argument with Oswald he did not know a gun he was carrying was loaded. Oswald died to death after a rifle bullet pierced his heart.

BOOTLEG CRACKDOWN

VANCOUVER — City Prosecutor Stewart McMorran took steps Tuesday to padlock to downtown Vancouver speakeasies.

Mr. McMorran said summonses were issued to the owners of two premises under a little-used section of the Liquor Act in a bid to halt bootlegging. He said more summonses are expected to be issued shortly.

NO TOLLS

VANCOUVER — Highways Minister Gagliardi said Tuesday tolls will not be charged on the $25,000,000 Port Mann Bridge now under construction near New Westminster.

He also said in an interview the new Second Narrows Bridge won't be part of the trans-Canada highway because the provincial government rejected a federal government grant so it could charge tolls.

Tolls will not be charged on the Port Mann Bridge because the federal government is paying part of the cost. It will be part of the trans-Canada highway system.

MAYOR GETS TOUGH

PRINCE GEORGE — Mayor Garvin Dezeli laid down the law to his council Tuesday.

In his inaugural address he said he will enforce the provisions of section 125 of the Municipal Act and declare the seat of any alderman who misses three consecutive meetings vacant and call a by-election.

SOUTHERN U.S. HIT BY SNOW BLANKET

CHICAGO (AP) — A fast-moving snow storm which hit the southwest swept into the south today leaving a heavy blanket of white from Arkansas into North Carolina.

The season's first big snowfall—and the biggest in many years in some areas—curtailed travel, closed schools and disrupted telephone and power service.

Press Hides Council's Shortcomings

A Saanich councillor Tuesday complained that newspaper coverage of council meetings omitted the "silly statements" made by its members.

Otherwise the quality of newspaper reports was high, man of the lands and planning committee, said.

Newspapermen reported the Coun. Stanley Murphy, chair-facts and the intelligent and humorous statements made by councillors, he explained. They even cleared up the grammar.

But, he lamented, the stupid things said in council were omitted. For this reason, Coun. Murphy, advocated TV and radio coverage of council meetings so that ratepayers could see and hear exactly what was said at times. "If the electors got to know their councillors as well as they know most TV entertainers we would get more than 25 per cent of the eligible voters to turn out at elections," he said.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1960 17

NEW 2-CENT DROP DUE IN CANNED MILK 'WAR'

Look for the price of canned milk to drop another two cents a can in the next 48 hours.

That's the word from Victoria grocery stores today.

The canned milk "war" began here Monday when Alpha, an Alberta producer seeking to make inroads in B.C., pared two cents off the price of its canned milk. Quantity buyers saved $1 on a case of 48.

Pacific and Carnation, competitors of Alpha, immediately dropped their price two cents to 16 cents.

The price remained firm Tuesday. But early today Carnation advised local grocers it planned to cut its price again by two cents to 14 cents.

MONTE ROBERTS

I have recently been exposed to the modern version of the town pump, namely, the coin-operated laundry.

If you do not know about the coin-operated laundry, this is a communal meeting place where machines, coaxed by coins-in-the-slot, automatically wash and dry your soiled linen, towels, and other items which are in need of soap and water.

The first thing I noticed about the coin-operated laundry which we patronize, is, there seemed to be as many men as women using it.

I remarked on this to My Favorite Wife, the first time we took our small hamper down to the meeting place, and started the machines whirling and gurgling.

"No doubt they are bachelors, poor things," MFV said, and I agreed she was probably right.

The NEXT time we went to the washer-upper, we put the clothes in the washing machine, and we drove back to the house to wait out the 25 minutes required for cleansing.

And when the time was up, I said to MFV: "Guess we better go get the clothes out of the washer and put them in the dryer."

"Yes, it's time," MFV said. "But after all, do BOTH of us need to go back? After all," said MFV, "all you need do is take the wash out of the washer, and put it in the dryer, and that doesn't take two people."

"You're right, dear," I said, leaving on cue.

And the NEXT time the wash came 'round, MFV said: "I've separated the colored stuff from the white stuff, all you need do is use TWO machines, the way I showed you, and..."

"Yes, dear," I said.

So the NEXT time a sufficiency of soiled linen had accumulated, MFV said:

"Tomorrow's your day off, isn't it dear?"

"Yes," I said, a hollow note in my voice.

"Well, it'll only take you a few minutes, just separate the white things from the colored things, use two machines, and..."

"Yes, dear," I said.

I have checked the patrons of the coin-operated laundries several times since then, and I am now convinced there are MORE men than women using them.

Not, I might add, ALL of them bachelors.

They are wonderful labor saving devices, especially for women.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Two youths each were fined $20 when they pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Tuesday to charges of throwing empty beer bottles from a car on Richmond Road.

They were Maximilian Schoenfeldt, 19, of 115 Collinson, and Bernard Sinclair, 19, of 2838 Scott.

Pleading guilty to his third offence for driving while under suspension, Terrence Doherty, 24, of 3925 Glenford, was sentenced in Saanich police court Tuesday to 20 days in jail with no option of fine.

Doherty's licence suspension dated from September, 1957, when he failed to show proof of financial responsibility.

Man Charged In Duncan Safe Theft

(From Duncan Bureau)

Joseph Gerald Pellerin, 31, was remanded without plea before Acting Magistrate R. F. Barnes in Duncan police court today on a charge of stealing a safe from the B.C. Telephone Co. office at Duncan.

Pellerin was arrested at 2 p.m. Tuesday. He is defended by Alistair MacDonald, Duncan lawyer.

RCMP recovered the 200-pound safe at the west end of Drinkwater Road Tuesday. It was stolen from the company office, 141 Jubilee Street, early Sunday morning.

FRIED OPEN

The safe had been hammered and pried open with a crow bar. It was found in the bush.

An undisclosed amount of money is still missing but a number of customer's cheques have been recovered.

This was the second safe theft from the phone company office. The first was taken Nov. 20 along with $2,000 in cash and cheques.

HEAP OF SMOULDERING HAY remained after gasoline-fed fire swept a Central Saanich hay shed early today. Juvenile court dealt with a 13-year-old boy charged with the offence.

2 Years for Boy In Barn Burning

Police Act Fast In Overnight Blaze

A 13-year-old boy was sentenced to two years at Brannan Lake industrial school for the wilful burning and $1,200 loss of a hay storage shed at his Central Saanich foster home at 1 a.m. today.

Police took the boy into custody at a Saanich house at 4 a.m., placed him in Coldharbour detention home and brought him before a juvenile judge in a special Central Saanich court sitting at noon.

He was charged with setting fire to a 12-by-20-foot shed containing five tons of hay at the farm of B. G. Macham, 2735 Martindale Road.

His name was not released because of his age.

The fire was spotted by a neighbor, who called the owners, who sounded the fire alarm.

The storage shed and an adjoining cattle shed about 10 feet away were both burning when Central Saanich volunteer firemen arrived.

GASOLINE SMELL

"We could smell gasoline all over the place," Fire Chief Clarence Rowles said.

Firemen quickly doused burning hay in the newer and larger cattle shed, from which about 10 animals had been turned loose before the fire, but were unable to save the other building.

Both fires were started inside, the chief said. "We found a gasoline can and spout in one shed."

Flames burned stubbornly in the hay, which firemen had to turn over with pitchforks to soak properly with an estimated 4,000 gallons of water from two pumps and a tank truck.

For the Machams, it was the second loss of a stock shed by fire within a year. The earlier blaze last summer also was allegedly started deliberately.

Ex-Deputy To Fight Old Boss

By PETE LOUDON
Times Political Reporter

Former B.C. deputy works minister Clive D. Campbell today squared off for a provincial election battle with Works Minister W. N. Chant—who fired Mr. Campbell last May.

Mr. Campbell announced this morning he will accept a bid to stand for nomination here for the Progressive Conservative candidacy in February.

Major-Gen. C. A. P. Murison, former North Cowichan reeve, made a similar announcement last month. Assuming the two become candidates—and statements by party officials indicate this is almost certain—there remains but one Victoria seat open to Tory nomination.

TWO SECREDS IN

The three Victoria seats are now held by Mr. Chant, Social Creditor J. Donald Smith and Liberal House leader George Gregory.

In announcing his decision, Mr. Campbell said: "I recently was approached by a number of citizens with the request I allow my name to go forward... since then I have received many indications of support and encouragement.

"After careful consideration, and because I feel that my many years of experience in provincial government... can be of value to the city... I have decided to let my name stand."

PRESIDENT PLEASED

President of the Victoria Progressive Conservative Association, James Barclay described Mr. Campbell as "...a man of integrity, competent and capable, and the association takes pleasure in the announcement he will allow his name to go forward."

Oak Bay Conservative James George added, "I am delighted... this is in keeping with the high standards which the party will set in B.C. in the coming election."

Mr. Campbell was born in 1911 in England and came to Victoria in 1926. He entered the works department in 1930 as an architect and assumed the dual post of chief architect and deputy minister in 1955. He served overseas with the army. He is a consulting architect, is married, has a son, 12.

He was centre of a controversy last May when suddenly dismissed by Works Minister Chant, who charged inefficiency. Mr. Chant in a later statement suggested there were political differences between himself and Mr. Campbell—a statement bound to be aired on the hustings if Mr. Campbell becomes a candidate.

CABBIE LOSES $300 AND FARE

A Victoria cabbie who got $7 from a plainclothes policeman for two mikes of rum lost out on his fare and in city court he was fined $300 today for bootlegging.

Through counsel Robert Harvey, Arthur Basil Curry, 3275 Alder, pleaded guilty to selling liquor last Dec. 13.

"It is bad enough for a taxi driver to be caught by a police officer in plain clothes, but it is worse for him not to get his fare," Mr. Harvey submitted to Magistrate William Ostler, asking for an order for the fare to be paid, which was refused.

'Change in Wind' On New PWA Bid

Pacific Western Airlines' second proposal to take over Victoria-Vancouver air service with three jet-prop Fairchild F27A aircraft today drew a slight "change in the wind" reaction from Greater Victoria civic and business leaders.

While many civic leaders withheld comment pending study of PWA's plan, the greatest shift in reaction came from Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Vigorously opposed to PWA's first plan, introduced last year, to service the route with Curtiss C46 aircraft, the Chamber today indicated the newest PWA proposal was "far more realistic" than the first scheme.

THREE COURSES

A spokesman said the Chamber had three courses of action it could take:

1. It could endorse the PWA application.
2. It could oppose it and press for Trans-Canada Air Lines, the existing carrier, to carry on, or...
3. It could leave the whole matter in the lap of the Air Transport Board, the final authority on carrier changes.

The PWA proposal is scheduled to be discussed by the chamber's harbor and transportation group next week. After that it will go to chamber directors for consideration later this month.

The spokesman said the chamber would have to consider two points: what is the best local service offered and how would the PWA plan affect Victoria's bid to get transcontinental service.

PWA told city businessmen Tuesday it could begin Vancouver-Victoria service July 1 with the Fairchild aircraft, costing $3,000,000. The planes have 40-passenger capacity. PWA said it would provide the same service at the same fare as TCA.

CARRY ON

In Montreal, a TCA spokesman said his line "is fully prepared to continue service on the route as at present."

He said TCA plans to have a representative before the ATB when the PWA application is heard and "we'll retain the route if the board so decides."

Victoria Chamber of Commerce president Alan Pendray said he personally feels "this might be the time to make a switch."

"PWA appears to have a pretty good plane... this time they seem to be in a position to give better service."

"My own feeling is that TCA has given good service, but they're still flying the same old planes. (TCA operates DC3s, has said it will use 48-passenger Viscounts in 1961.)

Mayor Percy Scurrell said he wouldn't "even consider the (PWA) application unless we had some assurance from one of the major carriers of one or two Trans-Canada flights a day originating and ending at Patricia Bay."

The mayor said there are "so many implications in the proposals they made for service between Victoria and Vancouver that it's going to take considerable thought to decide whether it would be advantageous to the city or not to support them."

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtel said the area had been well served by TCA. He felt the only desirable change was the establishment of a "first-class airport at Patricia Bay with longer runways."

Reeves George Chatterton of Saanich and George Murdoch of Oak Bay said they needed more time to study the proposal.

FWA met heavy opposition from the Chamber, Mayor Scurrell and business leaders when it proposed to service the route with Curtiss C46s.

OWNER, FIRM CHARGED AFTER DIVER'S DEATH

A Sidney marine firm and its proprietor were charged jointly Tuesday with criminal negligence in the death last July 19 of Victoria skindiver Richard Willoughby, 27.

Herbert Murray Stockall, of Shoal Harbor Marine Service Ltd., and the company, appeared in Sidney RCMP court, represented by J. E. Gatehouse and elected trial by a higher court.

Bail was set at $1,500 pending a preliminary hearing set for 10 a.m. Jan. 21.

Delay in the action was accounted for by several things: Consideration of the charge and approval by the attorney-general's department; arrangements between counsel; civic elections in which Crown counsel was involved; and the Christmas holiday season.

Willoughby died after touching what is alleged to have been a faulty electrical conduit at the marina while diving for a gasoline funnel lost overboard at one of the marina's moorage floats.

Major Survey Task Given Beacon Hill

The RCN Pacific Command frigate HMCS Beacon Hill will leave Monday on a major oceanographic survey of northern waters for the Pacific Naval Laboratory.

On the same day, four sister ships of the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron will leave on an extended training cruise southward with officer cadets from HMCS Venture, naval officer training establishment at Esquimalt.

Beacon Hill will call briefly at two ports during the month-long survey: on Jan. 22 and 23 she will be at Prince Rupert, and from Jan. 29 to 31 she will be at Kodiak, Alaska.

The survey is the first of a series to be carried out for the PNL during 1960. The research vessel usually used for this work, the converted coastal escort GNAV Oshawa, is in for refit.

The other four frigates leaving Monday are HMCS Stettin, Sussexvale, Ste. Therese, Angilosh and Stettler. Ports of call will be announced by naval headquarters in Ottawa when diplomatic clearances are received.

It is understood—but not confirmed officially—that the cruise will take the ships well down the coast of South America. They are due to return April 22.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Grab Him, Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two little boys, three and four. I have another child on the way. My husband died six months ago when our tractor overturned on him.

Our pastor is begging me to marry him. He spends every spare minute trying to help me and the boys, and they love him very much. I am 27, and he is 33. I don't love him with the exciting kind of love every woman dreams about. He says it doesn't matter that I don't love him that way and that I will learn to love him because he will make me happy.

I want my children to have a father and I know this man will make a good one. Is it possible to build a marriage on this foundation?

UNDECIDED: Run, do not walk to the nearest altar. Mutual admiration and respect are often a sturdier foundation for marriage than "the exciting kind of love every woman dreams about".

DEAR ABBY: I had to laugh when I read the letter from the poor lady who said her husband refused to be seen walking on the street with her if she wore eyeglasses.

Maid Testifies Against Dr. Finch

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two months before Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch was shot to death, her maid testified today, she said that her doctor husband had tried to send her over a cliff in a car. Miss Lidholm was the first important witness at the murder trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 41, and his attractive, red-haired paramour, Carole Tregoff, 23.

Jewish 'Spies' on Trial in Romania

ROME (Reuters)—The Italian Agenzia Continentale news service reported from Bucharest tonight that a wave of arrests of Jews accused of Zionist activities is at its height in Romania.

The agency, which specializes in Communist affairs, claimed the arrests are connected with a forthcoming spy trial of 25 Jews, headed by a journalist named Efrain Singer.

Plane Wreckage Found, 10 Missing

VALLETTA, Malta (AP)—The wreckage of a United States plane with 10 American servicemen aboard has been sighted in Libya, British naval headquarters said tonight. There was no sign of life.

April Visit
For De Gaulle

PARIS (Reuters)—President Charles de Gaulle will visit Canada from April 19 to 22 and then will go to the United States "until the end of the same month," it was announced today.

A brief communique published by the Elysee Palace, the president's official office, said: "Gen de Gaulle has been invited to pay an official visit to the United States and Canada at the end of next April.

"The president of the republic has accepted with pleasure these two invitations."

HAD ACCEPTED BEFORE

The French president had long accepted both invitations in principle but the specific dates had not been set. These depended on the date for an East-West summit conference, now set for May 16 in Paris.

De Gaulle's visit to Canada and the U.S. will follow his official visit early in April to Great Britain.

Since his return to power in 1958, de Gaulle has crisscrossed France's vast African interests with repeated visits but has kept his other diplomatic visits to Italy and West Germany.

It was part of his campaign to restore France's prestige that other chiefs of state come first to France. This has been accomplished through President Eisenhower's official visit to France and the spate of Paris meetings which have brought together Western leaders many times.

In Ottawa, it was learned that President de Gaulle will visit Montreal, Toronto and Quebec City in addition to the national capital.

Governor-General and Mrs. Vanier have invited President and Mrs. de Gaulle to be their guests at Government House April 19 and 20.

The sequence of General de Gaulle's visits to the various centres has not been worked out. However, he was expected to land at Montreal April 19 and probably then proceed to Ottawa, remaining in the capital until the morning of the 21st.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said some time ago that he hoped de Gaulle would address Parliament during his visit here. However it appeared unlikely today that he would do so as Parliament will be in Easter recess at the time.

WICKS MAKES GRAVE CHARGE

Labor Politics
Linked to Deaths

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks today linked political action in the IWA with a serious increase in fatalities in the B.C. lumber industry last year.

He said due to politics in the woodworkers' trade union, the annual IWA safety conference last year had a very poor turnout, and though he had been invited to attend in past years, not this time.

He gained the opinion, he said, that persons who in the past have spurred the safety program, have now been removed from office.

JOBS AFFECTED

"Politics has got into office appointments and elections," he said, "and they automatically get removed from office."

Asked what he meant by "independence of mind" the minister said, "going against the CCF."

"Politics is creeping in everywhere," he stated. "Nobody should be playing with people's lives." His remarks were taken as directed at the increased movement within the B.C. Federation of Labor to support the CCF in the next provincial election.

The minister said he was not singling out the IWA particularly and his statements were not intended to mean the labor movement was deliberately trying to sabotage the provincial safety record.

Mr. Wicks made his remarks at a press conference called to release the 1959 fatal accident totals.

There were 262 last year, compared to 208 in 1958. There had been a reduction since 1956 when there were 324. In 1957, there were 240.

In the logging industry the pattern was similar—in 1959 there were 76; 1958, 45; 1957, 44; 1956, 87.

The minister said he and the Workmen's Compensation Board were "greatly concerned."

He concluded: "It may well be that industry and labor should get together on this most serious and needless waste of human life."

Poland's
Air Chief
Flees in Jet

LONDON (AP)—Reports reaching Polish emigre circles today said Gen. Frey-Bielecki, chief of the Polish Air Force, has fled from Poland to Yugoslavia in a MIG Jet.

If true, the defection would be one of the most important from the Soviet bloc since the war.

Frey-Bielecki took command of the Polish Air Force after Wladyslaw Gomułka took over the Polish Communist leadership in October, 1956. Previously he had been deputy to a Soviet commander, Gen. Turkiet.

Qualified diplomats here said they had no first-hand confirmation of the reports.

But they noted that both Poland and Yugoslavia have been unusually reticent about the recent expulsion from Poland of the Yugoslav military attaché, Col. Nikola Pejnovic, and his assistant, Maj. Sztetozar Pazin. These expulsions became known from diplomatic sources in Warsaw Dec. 30.

Persistent rumors circulated in Yugoslavia Tuesday that a severe strain has developed in friendly relations between Yugoslavia and Poland.

Observers and diplomats agree that tension now exists between the two countries.

A government spokesman gave a terse reply Tuesday—"no answer can be given to any of your questions"—when asked to confirm or deny reports about the Polish officer or official arriving in Yugoslavia.

No Tax Hike
'Nonsense'
—Strachan

CCF Opposition Leader Robert Strachan today blasted the claims of Premier Bennett on Tuesday that there will be no tax increases this year. (See page 3.)

"When the homeowners of B.C. receive their tax notices this year, many thousands will find the policies of this government have increased their assessments considerably and this will mean an increase in taxes."

In repeating this nonsense, the premier hopes that the people of B.C. will not realize that in the past seven years he has overtaxed them to the tune of $60,000,000—and they are now supposed to be happy this is merely to be continued and not increased."

Flood of Queries Sparked
By Gov't Assessment Order

Oak Bay assessor's office today reported a flood of inquiries by residents who received increased assessment notices as a result of a provincially-ordered change in depreciation schedules on homes.

He said the average increase is about 4½ per cent on standard homes but as high as 12 per cent on luxury homes.

The same story was repeated in Esquimalt where a general increase averaging 30 per cent was applied on land only.

Victoria and Saanich assessment departments reported no general increase on assessments were made in those municipalities this year.

GOV'T BLAMED

One irate Oak Bay resident blamed the assessment increase on the provincial government.

"This may appear to be a municipal matter but in actual fact it is not," he explained. "Oak Bay's schedule of assessments of a year ago was not acceptable to the provincial assessor."

The government issued a new set of depreciation factors, which had the effect of raising the assessment and hence the taxes.

"Thus the municipalities will appear to be responsible for the increase but the blame should be placed where it belongs, on the provincial government."

BLANKET BOOST

"It is ludicrous for Premier Bennett to claim that 'there will be no increase in taxes this year'. In fact, there is a blanket increase," (See Page 3.)

In Vancouver, it is reported, increases approach 16 per cent and the city is so upset it intends to make protests.

In Greater Victoria and throughout B.C., residents have until Jan. 17 to appeal assessment notices.

The Oak Bay assessment official confirmed that this year's increase was caused by a provincial assessment commission order to switch the method of depreciating houses.

1½% ANNUALLY

Previously, the municipality used a "straight-line" method which took off 1½ per cent each year automatically for depreciation until the maximum of 35 per cent was reached. Under the new system, three sets of sliding scales will be used along with actual observation.

"Now it will take 28 years for a standard house to reach full depreciation where it used to be 23 years. This is a more realistic system. We were depreciating homes too rapidly before," the official said.

"Naturally this year's increase is higher on the more luxurious homes because quality homes do not depreciate as rapidly as standard homes."

NOT IN CITY

The change was ordered by the provincial assessment commission last year in the three outlying municipalities, but not in the city where a sliding scale system always had been used, when the B.C. assessment regulations were altered.

"We are getting a lot of inquiries but not many actual

BOLIVIA, N.C. — Thirty-four persons died early today when a National Airlines plane carrying vacationers from New York to Florida crashed with explosive violence near the North Carolina coast.

One of the first persons on the scene said he found "bodies scattered all over the field."

Some of the victims wore life jackets, indicating they may have had last second warning of a possible ocean crash.

At least 25 bodies had been found by noon.

The 29 passengers died by a flip of fate's coin. They were among 105 booked on a jet airliner. But crewmen found a crack in the jet's windshield and it was ordered out of service.

The 105 passengers were divided between two smaller, propeller-driven, planes on a first-come, first-served basis at two different airport gates. One plane flew to the Florida sunshine without incident. The other carried its charges to instant death.

The dead included 29 passengers, mostly from the New York metropolitan area, and five crew members.

The wreckage, strewn over 12 acres of the jungle-like Green Swamp area, was broken into three main pieces. Several residents reported hearing an explosion.

The plane crashed on the small farm of Richard Randolph. His wife, Lettie, was awakened by the noise and she awakened her husband.

'There Was Big Boom Like Dynamite'

"We heard an engine going chug-a-chug," he said, "like it was cutting in and out. Then it sounded like tin doors and windows ripping off. Then there was a big boom like dynamite." Randolph arose and looked out the window. He could see nothing but a small flame which soon went out. He returned to bed.

Early this morning their small son McArthur, went to the field to see what happened and found the plane.

The flight plan called for the plane to hug the coast on the leg from New York to Wilmington, then to swing out to sea for the overwater leg to Palm Beach, Fla. Weather conditions were to dictate when

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—"There are too many Jews in this country—we're going to fix them," an anonymous caller told a local radio station Tuesday night.

The telephone call, received by radio station CKNW, was the third sign of anti-Semitism on the west coast. It followed a threatening call to Abe Arnold, editor of the Jewish Western Bulletin and a similar call to the Vancouver Sun.

CKNW recorded part of the conversation with the caller, who identified himself as a member of British Union of Fascists, and broadcast it today. Mr. Arnold said it was undoubtedly the same man who called him Tuesday.

The man, who had a Lancashire accent, told CKNW: "Hitler killed only 6,000,000. He didn't make a good enough job of it. He should have killed 8,000,000."

"But anyway, we're going to work on them. There's enough of us in this country now and we've got organized again like we did before the war."

Mr. Arnold said he is certain some international organization must be behind the outbreak of anti-Semitism.

Ghana Fear of A-Test
Topic for Mac's Talks

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan arrived here today to begin a six-week study tour of Commonwealth nations in Africa.

Macmillan, accompanied by his wife, Lady Dorothy, will spend five days in Ghana before flying next Monday to Lagos, capital of Nigeria which becomes independent in October.

Ghana's prime minister, Kwame Nkrumah, led a high-welcoming crowd at the airport here when Macmillan's plane landed from London.

Accra was gaily decorated with flags and hunting for the first visit to Ghana and Africa, of a British prime minister in office.

Macmillan's talks with Nkrumah were expected to centre on Ghana's new constitution, now being prepared, which visualizes her as the first independent African republic in the Commonwealth. India and Pakistan are the only other two republics within the Commonwealth.

Another topic Macmillan will be faced with here is Ghana's opposition to France's projected nuclear tests in the Sahara, now expected in March.

Ghana fears that radioactivity from the tests could be carried here. These fears are emphasized now because of the seasonal harmattan, a steady, dry wind which blows directly from the Sahara across Ghana.

Macmillan will spend five days here, seven in Nigeria, nine in the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland and nine in South Africa. He also will make brief visits to the British high commission territories of Bechuanaland and Swaziland.

FIVE TRAPS STOLEN ON SOMENOS CREEK

'2-Legged Animal' Hunted

By D'ARCY RICKARD
 DUNCAN — Ernest Mayea, 50, Sahlam Road, a trapper of muskrat, mink and otter in the Somenos Lake area for 32 years, has reported five traps stolen from his line over the weekend.

"Someone is stealing them as fast as I put them out," Mr. Mayea said Tuesday.

The thief is a "two-legged animal," he said.

The long-spring traps cost the trapper $1.20 each, and there is a possibility the thief is stealing trapped animals.

RCMP and game warden William Fowkes are investigating.

Mr. Mayea took a 35-pound otter Monday from his trapline on Somenos Creek, set out on Charles Kingston's property. The pelt will sell for $28 in Vancouver. Pliable muskrat pelts bring close to $1 each.

NO PROFIT
 "I've been keeping the wolf away from the door this winter by trapping. But there's no profit in it this way. I've lost five traps and it will take 10 skins to make up for it," Mr. Mayea said.

During the depression when the trapper hunted with his father Frank, muskrat skins sold for a low 20 cents a hide. Throughout the war years they went to a high of $4. Now the pelts bring $1 each.

He knows the habits of the animals he's after and sets his traps underwater and well hidden. The stakes are set in deep water so the animals will drown quickly when they attempt to swim up-stream after the trap springs.

Ernie tells how his father once caught a blue fox near the lake. Another Frenchman, Joy Roy, trapped bear with his father in the early days near Skutz Falls on the Cowichan Lake Road. They learned trapping in Northern Ontario.
